THE SAVAGES.

Letter of Mr. Meacham Detailing the Brutal Treachery of Modoc Jack—Latest from the Front.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The following letter, received at the Interior Department to-day, gives new and interesting particulars of the late Modoc massacre:

HEAD-QUARTERS, CAMP SOUTH SIDE TULE LAKE, CALIFORNIA, April 16, 1873.

Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of the Interior:

SIR: Since our arrival at the lava bed the Commission, together with Gen. Canby, had labored hopefully, and had, apparently, gained several points over the Indians looking to a peaceful solution of this question. Until Friday morning, 11th inst., we had thwarted all their schemes of treachery through the fidelity of our interpreter, Mrs. Riddle, a Modoc woman. On that morning terms were agreed upon for a meeting satisfactory to Dr. Thomas and Gen. Canby, though not to Mr. Dyar nor myself, or the Modoc woman, Gen. Canby remarking that they dare not molest us because his forces commanded the situation, and Dr. Thomas said where God called him to go he would go, trusting to His care. The meeting was held at the time and place agreed upon. Canby, Meacham, Thomas, and Dyar, and eight armed instead of six unarmed Indians, as was agreed upon. The "talk" was short, the Modoc chiefs both saying that unless the soldiers were withdrawn from the country no further talk would be had. Up to that point the commissioners reaffirmed that the soldiers would never be withdrawn until the difficulty was settled, and still extending the offer of amnesty, a suitable and satisfactory home, and ample provision for their welfare in the future. The reply from both chiefs was, "Take away your soldiers, and we will talk about it."

Gen. Canby assured the Indians that he was here for the protection of both parties, and to see that the commission faithfully fulfilled their promises.

About this time two armed Indians suddenly appeared from the brush in our rear. An explanation was asked, and Capt. Jack replied by snapping a pistol at Gen. Canby, saying in Indian, "All ready," after which Gen. Canby was dispatched by Capt. Jack with a pistol and knife, and Dr. Thomas by a pistol-shot in the breast and gunshot in the head, by Boston. Meacham and Dyar attempted to escape toward the camp, the former followed by Schonchin John, and the latter by Black Jim and Hooker Jim. Schonchin fired six shots at Meacham, hitting him four times, and leaving him for dead. Boston attempting to scalp him was deterred by a Modoc woman. Dyar escaped unhurt, although fired at three times by Black Jim, who was only a few feet away, and by Hooker Jim, by whom he was pursued. After running about 200 yards, he turned upon his pursuer with a small pocket-derringer, when the Indian turned and ran back, thus letting Dyar get away. Mr. Dyar will be obliged to leave in a day or two, on account of official duties, but while here the remainder of the commission will consult with Gen. Gillem should any active measures be necessary on our part. We believe that complete subjugation by the military is the only method by which to deal with these Indians.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
A. B. MEACHAM,
Chairman Modoc Peace Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Nothing important has been received from the lava beds since the 20th inst., when Lieut. Leary's company was attacked near the camp. Donald McKay reports that the Modocs are encamped at the base of the mountains at the south end of the lava beds. The troops are now divided into three camps. Capt. Thomas left on the 26th inst. with the cavalry and the Warm Spring Indians, to reconnoitre in the vicinity of the Modocs' position. Lieut. Eagan is convalescent. Nearly all the cavalry horses are sick with the epizootic.

LATER.—A special courier arrived at Yreka late last night from the lava beds. The opinion prevailed at head-quarters that the Modocs will not make another stand, but will break up in small parties who must be hunted in detail, making an all Summer's work for the cavalry.

Gen. Jefferson C. Davis and staff reached Yreka yesterday afternoon, and will proceed immediately to the front.

Reported Fighting with the Blackfeet.

TORONTO, Canada, April 28.—A special dispatch from Fort Garry, Manitoba, says reports from the interior state that there has been fighting between the American troops and Blackfeet Indians, and a large number of Americans were killed. It is feared that this is the beginning of trouble in the Blackfeet country. The Indians of Fort Pelly are the Indians who have crossed the line to the number of seven or eight thousand, and threaten the interior settlements and Manitoba.

The Expedition to Protect the Northern Pacific Railroad Surveyors.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—An expedition will be organized, to be assembled at and in readiness to depart from Fort Rice, Dakota Territory, on the 15th of June next, for the protection of engineering parties of the Northern Pacific Railroad in making surveys for the location of the line of that road between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains. The expedition will be constituted as follows: First—A battalion of ten companies of the Seventh Cavalry, under command of the Lieutenant Colonel of the regiment. Second—A battalion of ten companies of infantry, four of the Eighth Regiment, and six of the Ninth Regiment; under command of Lieut.-Col. L. P. Bradley, of the Ninth Regiment. Third—A battalion of five companies of the Twenty-second Infantry, under command of the senior Captain. Two of these companies to be drawn from Fort Randall, two from Fort Sully, and commanded by the respective post commanders. Fourth—A battalion of four companies of the Seventeenth Infantry—two from Fort Rice, one from Fort Lincoln, and one from Camp Hancock, under command of Major R. E. A. Crofton, of the Seventeenth Infantry. Fifth—The detachment of seventy-five Indian scouts, authorized by Special Orders No. 62, current series, from the Department of Dakota, and, in addition, five scouts each from Forts Totten and Wadsworth, to be selected by the respective post commanders from those of their commands who accompanied last year's Yellowstone expedition. Sixth—A detachment of artillery sufficient to man two Rodman rifled guns, to be commanded by an officer selected and detailed by the commander of the expedition. The men of the detachment will be selected from the battalion of the Seventeenth or Twenty-second Infantry, herein before designated as a portion of the expedition.

Col. D. S. Stanley, of the Twenty-second Infantry, is assigned to the command of the expedition. Excepting such staff officers as may hereafter be assigned to him, he will select the requisite staff from his command. The expedition will leave Fort Rice with sixty day's subsistence and forage. Subsequent arrangements will be made for the further supply of the command, either from a depot to be established on the Yellowstone, or from Fort Buford. Over 200 six-mule teams will accompany the expedition, and authority is given to hire such number of private teams as may be required for the use of the sick of the command; not less than five ambulances will be taken. The special order also prescribes the allowance of clothing for the infantry to be carried in the knapsack; authorizes the supplying of portable forges, coal, 3,500 horse-shoes, and the employment of mechanics, and is specific in detail as to the movements of the expedition, subsistence and other necessaries for its comfort and safety. The ammunition allowance is fixed at 200 rounds per man of the cavalry and infantry, 40 rounds to be carried habitually in the cartridge boxes, the remainder in bulk in the wagons. The commanding officer will determine the amount of artillery ammunition to be taken. The expedition will remain in the field until the 15th of October if its services are required for that length of time, and may, at the discretion of the commanding officer, be kept out until the 1st of November, but not later. This expedition has been organized by Gen. Terry, commanding the Department of Dakota, under instructions of the General of the Army.

BOSTON, Mass., April 28.—A dispatch from General Superintendent Sickles, of the Union Pacific Railroad, to Secretary Rollins, dated Denver, Colorado, April 27, contradicts the reported Indian raids on or near the line of the road. He says: "No troubles of the kind have occurred, and none are anticipated. President Grant will leave here on Tuesday to go over the road to Omaha."

The Indian Commission.

A meeting of the Board of Indian Commissions was held last evening at the Fifth-avenue Hotel, where the thirty-two bids for transportation of supplies were fully considered. It was decided to announce the awards to-morrow. The Chairman, Hon. Felix Brunto, reported the result of his visit to Washington, and his interview with the Secretary of the Interior. The general Indian field was then discussed. It was understood that the Sioux nation numbered 35,000 persons, but no trouble was anticipated except from the extreme northern Indians. The approach of the Northern Pacific Railroad was likely to produce trouble, unless all these wandering Indians could be brought in. A large number under Sitting Bull and Half Moon were approaching the Red Cloud agency, on the Platte River, where they will be met by the Government; and it is hoped a general Sioux council will be held this Summer. The depredations by these wild Indians have been few in number during the past three years. Some trouble was expected in Nebraska through the murder of three of Spotted Tail's warriors by border ruffians about three months ago, and there was danger of retaliation. The reported massacre in Kansas was not believed, nor was the interference with the Government trains in Texas. The Southwestern Indians were to meet in grand council at Fort Sill on May 20. The Indian raids in Texas were principally for the purpose of stealing and running off cattle into New-Mexico. In the Modoc troubles but little disturbance from the neighboring tribes was expected. The advance of the miners into the Ute reservations was likely to create trouble, unless the Government interfered and ordered the miners back.

To-day the bids for supplies will be opened at the depot of the commission.

ALBANY.

Local Option—The Canal Funding Bill—A Hot Debate in the House.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—The Local Option Prohibition bill was under discussion in the Senate this evening. Since it was printed, so many amendments have been made to the bill that the copies on the files are almost useless, so when the debate ran on to an amendment, making the sale under any circumstances of any substance having the appearance of intoxicating liquor, prima facie evidence of the sale of such liquors, Senators concluded that it was better to have the bill reprinted, and it was progressed for that purpose.

THE CANAL FUNDING BILL.

The Canal Funding bill was also progressed in consequence of Mr. Lewis offering an additional section suggested by the Governor, that the receipts of the canals as provided by the act should be invested in bonds. Mr. Lord insisted that the section should be printed before it was considered, and succeeded in getting the further consideration of the bill put over till Wednesday morning.

Mr. Woodin introduced a declaratory bill relating to the charter, and by consent it was put on its third reading and passed. It simply declares, in substance, that the passage of the charter shall not affect any pending suits by the City against individuals, nor operate to prevent the City bringing suits for liabilities previously incurred, or offenses committed against the City. Without this act, the effect on the charter becoming a law would be to amnesty all the Tammany criminals now under indictments, or against whom indictments might otherwise have been brought.

THE THREE-TIER RAILROAD.

The session in the Assembly was distinguished by a remarkable controversy between the united delegation from the City, headed by Speaker Cornell, and an apparent majority of the provincial members of the House, on a bill which makes the City guarantee $50,000 of the bonds of the Three-Tier Railroad Company for every half mile of the road built by it. A bill similar in its provisions was long ago introduced in the Senate, and was fully explained at the time in THE TIMES. When the House bill was moved into committee, this evening, Mr. Husted offered amendments virtually substituting the Senate bill for it, but they were not adopted. When the House came out of committee, Mr. Prince took the Speaker's chair, and Mr. Cornell moved that the bill be recommitted, with instructions to strike out the enacting clause. He stated that he did this at the request of the united delegation from the City of New-York. Mr. Husted moved that the amendments as offered by him be now adopted, that the Committee of the Whole be discharged from the further consideration of the bill, and that it be ordered to a third reading. On this he moved the previous question, but the yeas and nays being called, he failed to get it ordered. The new City members, Mr. C. G. Cornell, Mr. Clarke, and Mr. Opdyke, and the Speaker, successively attacked the bill, each speaking briefly, but earnestly, against it; while others, who did not, manifested their sympathy in unmistakable ways. Mr. Husted defended it with his usual energy, alleging that the people of Westchester were fully as much interested in rapid transit, and more so, as the citizens of New-York themselves. To this it was replied it was a flagrant outrage for them to request the Legislature to bond the City for their convenience.

The question was first taken on Mr. Husted's amendments. The vote was taken very deliberately, and its progress was watched with close attention. They were barely adopted; but Mr. Husted did not dare to trust the House further, and immediately a motion was made to adjourn, which was carried over the heads of the City men. The bill was thus left hanging, and will come up to-morrow morning.

Paterson Board of Trade.

The growing business and manufacturing interests of Paterson, N. J., have led to the formation of a Board of Trade. The objects contemplated are:

The encouragement of trade and commerce in the City of Paterson and its vicinity; the more frequent intercourse between business men; the improvement of facilities for transportation; the diffusion of information concerning the trade, manufactures, and other interests of the City of Paterson; the co-operation of this with similar societies in other cities, and generally the development of the material and local interests of that city.

At the meeting on Saturday evening the following officers, representing the largest houses in the linen, silk, iron, and other trades were elected:

President—Thomas Barbour.
Vice-Presidents—Wm. Strange, Robert S. Hughes.
Secretary—William G. Scott.
Treasurer—H. V. Butler.
Directors—William Ryle, F. C. Beckwith, Robert Hamil, Watts Cooke, Wm. G. Watson, C. Lambert, W. W. Fairbanks, Claude Greppo, John Shaw, John Cooke, James McNab, George Wurts.

The Colfax, La., Massacre—Flight of the Postmaster—The Office Discontinued.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The Postmaster of Colfax, La., informs the Post-office Department that he was compelled to flee for his life at the recent massacre of colored men there, and that he took to Alexandria all the records and papers belonging to his office. He declines to serve any longer as Postmaster, and the Department has issued orders discontinuing the office at Colfax. The annual compensation of the Postmaster was $12 only.

THE COLLAPSED BANK.

Meeting of the Depositors—Action of the Clearance House—A Panic in Wall-Street.

Things were decidedly lively in front of the broken Atlantic Mutual Bank, in Nassau-street, yesterday morning. Many of the depositors were there at an early hour, bemoaning the loss of their money, and uttering vows of vengeance upon the rascal who squandered it. Taintor was not the only one whom the angry depositors wished in the asylum of the State. The President and directors came in for their share of the bad wishes so freely expressed. Had the depositors succeeded in catching hold of the President or directors, in their burst of indignation in the early morning, it is quite likely that these worthy gentlemen would have been called upon to bear a portion of the punishment properly belonging to the defaulting cashier, Taintor. Very many striking scenes were witnessed among the depositors as they stood at the barred door of the broken bank. There were about 200 swindled people there at one time, but they gradually dispersed when it became evident that they would not be allowed to enter the building. Notices appeared upon the glass of the door of the institution, announcing that various parties would pay their notes at some other bank, and also that the depositors would hold a meeting at No. 229 Broadway, at 2 o'clock P. M. These notices were read over and over again by the angry crowd. One man said that he had deposited $900 in the concern at 2:50 o'clock, and in just twelve minutes afterward he found that it had gone "where the woodbine twineth." He had been trying ever since to get it out, but he reckoned his exertions had been wasted. The cashier joked with him when he deposited the "stamps," but he had never been able to see anything funny in the transaction. This individual was among the loudest in his denunciation of the conduct of the cashier and the other official, and, judging from appearances, he would be in favor of capital punishment for the whole lot.

The clerks of the bank were busily engaged in making up the statement of the condition of affairs, co-operating with the bank examiners, although most of them—the cashier excepted—were thinking of a good place for a new "job." Taintor did not appear at the bank during the entire day, but held communion with his own thoughts in the exclusive quarters of Ludlow-street, varying the monotony by a trip to the office of Commissioner Osborn. The Commissioner, being highly delighted with his caller, made another appointment for Wednesday at 11 A. M., when the cashier, Taintor, will again pay him a visit, and tell the Commissioner in his own quaint way, how much money he "gobbled," how he "gobbled" it, and where it went to. Mr. John Sherwood appeared as counsel for Taintor.

The Clearing-house Committee, on Saturday, arrived at substantially a correct estimate of the losses of the bank and of the assets in the safes. At a little after noon yesterday it was found that there were about $158,000 of cash in drawers, tin boxes, and the safe of the bank; and this was taken over to the Gallatin National Bank and deposited, subject to the order of the receiver, Mr. Charles E. Strong, who was appointed, in the place of Mr. Meigs, in the morning. The cash included currency, gold, and checks, which had been sent on by banks throughout the country in settlement of accounts, and upon which the money had not been drawn. The securities of the bank were found to be nearly all "spouted," and those on hand were mostly of a character upon which money could not be obtained easily. The examiners kept at their work all day, but would give no information in addition to that already furnished. Mr. Tappan, the Chairman of the Clearing-house Committee, and the President of the Gallatin National Bank, was the only one who was willing to let the exact state of the affairs be known to the public. He courteously afforded every opportunity for acquiring information to the members of the Press. Mr. Strong, the receiver, steadfastly refused to have anything to say to the reporters, and in this he was backed up by officers of the bank, who allowed it to come to its present condition by their negligence, and who are now anxious to avoid the public condemnation which will naturally fall to their lot.

A rumor prevailed at one time, among the crowd in front of the door, that one of the depositors had gone to swear out warrants of arrest against the negligent bank officials, on the ground that money had been received by them, they knowing that the bank was hopelessly insolvent, but the rumor turned out to be, for the time at least, without foundation. No new disclosures, so far as could be learned, took place during the day's examination.

The Clearing-house held a meeting in the afternoon, and expelled the bank from the association. Then a meeting of the depositors was held at No. 229 Broadway, in the law offices of Abbot & Fuller, where considerable excitement prevailed. Mr. Fuller, of the firm, was appointed Chairman, and Allen Beebe, Secretary. Mr. Fuller "dropped" about $4,000 himself in the bank failure, so he had considerable interest in the prospects of a dividend. He said that the "burst" was one of the most disgraceful affairs that had ever happened in the City, and he hoped the guilty and negligent parties would be brought to sure and speedy punishment. He said that he had seen Taintor in the morning at the office of United States Commissioner Osborn, and he told him that the officers of the bank knew what was going on for a long time, and had kept silence for some reason or other. Mr. Fuller said that if this were so, the officers of the institution were responsible, and therefore liable for deposits.

Col. Davis and others followed in denunciation of the cashier, deploring and censuring the want of vigilance on the part of the officers of the bank. One man said that if he had not made a deposit in the bank on Saturday, he would not have thought it worth while to attend the meeting, but as his "rhino" was "locked up" he had called around to find out the best course to pursue to get hold of it again. His jocularity was short-lived, for he followed the beaten track of the other speakers in the denunciation of the cashier and officers, against whom he hurled anathemas.

Dr. Cutting thought that Taintor had squandered the bulk of the funds of the bank during the last few days, in the extraordinary fluctuations of the market, but he felt unwilling to accept the statement of Taintor as correct. He thought that no man should be trusted who had been put in Ludlow-street Jail for such a crime.

It was finally resolved to appoint a committee of five of the depositors to confer with the bank directors and receiver and find out if they would ever receive any money back, and if so, how much.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed: W. H. Libby, R. H. Rochester, Treasurer Western Union Telegraph Company; W. H. Fuller, Erastus Cook, and W. C. Martin.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the chair.

At a meeting of the bank directors, who were notified of the action of the depositors, it was resolved that the committee would be recognized as representing the depositors, and arrangements were made for a conference.

A PANIC IN WALL-STREET.

The failure of the bank occasioned a much greater excitement in Wall-street than was expected on Saturday night. The stock market was in a very critical state, it being uncertain whether the "bulls" or "bears" would gain the ascendancy, and the failure of the bank, although comparatively unimportant in itself, turned the scale and brought about a sudden and sharp decline. The market began to go down soon after the opening of the Exchange, but held in an undecided way until it was announced that Taintor's—the defaulting cashier's—brokers, were selling out 12,000 shares of Pacific Mail stock which they had been carrying for him. It was said that they did this because his margins were likely to be exhausted, and also to prevent any trouble by injunctions from the courts, which might restrain them from selling the property. The market went down lively on this report, and on heavy sales, evidently for the purpose of breaking the market, by some of the largest speculators. Then there came reports that some other banks were in trouble, and stocks fell off still further, and a regular panic ensued. The cliques gathered in the buildings of the "small fry" with great rapidity, nearly every one being anxious to sell, fearing the advent of much lower prices. The greater part of the street, not satisfied with selling their own property, also sold some one else's, hoping to "cover" at a handsome profit by and by. The fall of the day with the decline of the previous week probably shook out more small holders than the recent squeeze in the money market.

It was found that the report that other banks were in trouble was without foundation, and in the latter part of the afternoon prices had recovered slightly from the lowest figures reached during the day.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE.

CINCINNATI, O., April 28.—The railroad station-house at the crossing of the Louisville, New-Albany and Chicago and Lake Shore Railroads was burned Saturday night, and a man, aged seventy, named Klees, his daughter, and five children, living in the station-house perished in the flames.

GENEVA, N. Y., April 28.—The steam saw-mill, bending, and spoke works of T. Smith & Co. were destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The building fronting on Water-street, containing a large amount of manufactured work, upon which there is an insurance of $5,000, is alone saved of the entire group of buildings. There is no insurance on the buildings consumed, nor on their contents. The loss is estimated at $30,000. It is believed that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 28.—This morning, a fire broke out in Market Hall, occupied as apartments for families. Five people were buried under the falling walls. Their names were W. P. Doty, Robert Love, F. Velkringer, Mr. Hart, and George Andrews. Love died in half an hour. Andrews (colored) will not live. Hart is a law student, and cannot live. Other persons had limbs broken, and were otherwise injured. The loss was about $20,000; insurance $12,000, in the Phoenix, of Brooklyn; Gerard, of Philadelphia, and Franklin.

NEW-BEDFORD, Mass., April 28.—A fire on Purchase-street, yesterday destroyed the building owned by J. C. Ray, and damaged three wooden tenements adjoining. Garrett Gells, a furniture dealer, loses $5,000; insured for $3,000. The total loss is $10,000.

CONCORD, N. H., April 28.—Two dwellings and three barns, with twenty-five tons of hay, owned by L. P. Hanson, in West Henniker, were burned yesterday. Loss $5,000.

Partial Destruction of the Dunnell Manufacturing Establishment, Providence.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 28.—A fire broke out, this evening, in the Dunnell Building, in Canal-street, owned by the Dunnell Manufacturing Company. Although the building was saved, the damage to the contents by fire and water will reach from $50,000 to $75,000, mostly covered by insurance. One thousand bales of cotton belonging to D. Remington & Son, were partially burned. William S. Merrill had seventy bales of wool injured. The other occupants damaged by water were Messrs. Colwell & Winsor, carriage trimmings; Jastram & Son, flour and feed; S. A. Budlong and Allen & Co., produce, and the Dunnell Manufacturing Company's counting-room.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, April 29—1 A. M.—The rain area has moved north-eastward from Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia to Virginia; north-westerly to south-westerly winds, partly cloudy and clearing weather with slightly increased pressure in Tennessee, the Gulf and South Atlantic States; light north-westerly winds, partly cloudy and clearing weather prevail, with slightly increased pressure from Michigan to Iowa, and thence to Kentucky and Missouri, northerly and south-easterly winds, occasional rain, and cloudy weather, with falling barometer on the lower lakes and in the Middle States; generally clear weather and light southerly winds in New-England and Canada.

PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably fall in the Atlantic States, with slight south-easterly and north-easterly winds; from Iowa to Michigan and southward to the Ohio Valley, generally clearing and clear weather, with light north-westerly winds; for Kentucky, Tennessee, the Gulf and South Atlantic States, cloudy and clearing weather, south-westerly winds, and occasional rain; for the lower lakes and Middle States, generally cloudy weather, occasional rain, and south-easterly and north-easterly winds; for New-England and Canada, increasing cloudiness, south-easterly and north-easterly winds, and occasional rain. Reports are missing from some of the Southern States, the South-west, and North-west.

City Meteorological Record.

The following record will show the changes in the temperature yesterday, with the average for the same, as indicated by the thermometer at Dickinson's drug-store, No. 3 Park-row: 3 A. M., 44°; 6 A. M., 43½°; 9 A. M., 51½°; 12 M., 60½°; 3 P. M., 62°; 6 P. M., 60°; 9 P. M., 55°; 12 P. M., 52½°; average temperature yesterday, 53⅜°.

Attack on the Police in Keene, N. H., by Ruffians—Four Arrested and Committed.

KEENE, N. H., April 28.—A riot occurred on Saturday night in front of the American House, in which E. R. Locke, Chief of the Police, was seriously beaten. A force rallied to the assistance of the police, and four of the rioters, named John Morris, John Gallagher, J. B. H. Phillips, and Joseph Phillips, were arrested. They were brought before the Police Court this morning and committed for trial.

Lake Navigation—Activity at Buffalo—Heavy Ice Obstruction.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 28.—The propeller Equinox, which left here yesterday morning, has succeeded in making her way through the ice. Everything is active on the docks to-day. Several propellers are busy receiving cargoes, and expect to leave for the upper lakes to-morrow morning. The foot of the lake here is obstructed with a large body of floating ice, which came down from above. It will require a strong east wind to drive it out and sink it. Heavy steamers will have no trouble in forcing their way through.

Murder by a Man Seventy-Six Years Old.

BOSTON, April 28.—George Crawford, twenty-four years old, has been murdered in Danvers by John Hoppin, who is seventy-six years of age. Crawford attempted to enter Hoppin's house, on Sunday afternoon, when the latter stabbed him in the stomach, making a wound five and a half inches long, from the effects of which he died this evening. The trouble between them was concerning a woman, about thirty years old, who has been living with Hoppin as his wife, but about whose relations with other men, it is said, he did not much concern himself in his sober moments. He was drunk when he made the assault. Hoppin is in custody, and admits that he stabbed Crawford.

WASHINGTON.

The New Internal Revenue Law—A Million of Dollars Saved—Postage to France.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—There is an effort in various quarters to create a feeling against the new law governing the collection of internal revenue, and frequent statements have been published that the expense of the collection would be increased, instead of diminished, by the changes proposed. This sentiment is largely inculcated by those officials who lose their positions in the consolidation. Cutting off heads in the process of retrenchment is never a popular operation. The Commissioner, Mr. Douglass, says that such statements are not true, but that, on the contrary, he is more convinced than ever of the wisdom and economy of the law. The expenses of assessing have been about two-thirds the whole expense in the revenue districts, and under the law which goes into effect on the 20th of next month, all this will be cut off. On the other hand, the collectors' expenses will be somewhat increased, at least temporarily, so that the reduction of expense will very likely not equal the whole amount of the expense of assessing. The work of the bureau will certainly be done at an annual cost of $1,000,000 less than under the old law.

THE DISTRICT LEGISLATURE ORGANIZED.

The District Legislature met to-day and organized. The Council, or Upper Branch, elected Hon. William Stickney President, by a vote of 8 to 2 for A. K. Browne. Hon. J. W. Thompson was chosen Vice-President. In the Lower House the Delegates had quite a protracted contest over the presiding officer; the contest for Speaker being between two Republicans—Messrs. Peter Campbell and Arthur Shepherd. The former was finally elected on a trade with the three Democrats who are in the body, by which the latter in voting for Campbell secured the election of a Democrat as Clerk. The Governor's message was then delivered, and will be found nearly in full elsewhere.

POSTAGE TO AND FROM FRANCE.

The negotiations with the French Government for a postal treaty are quite likely to reach some result in the course of a few weeks. Our Government has been urging a rate of forty centimes, or about eight cents. The French Government has demanded ten cents. It now offers a rate of forty-five centimes, which is a little over nine cents. It will be seen that the difference between the two Governments is now but a little over one cent. It is not possible to make the rate exactly the same for both Governments, owing to the difference of postage, and it will be higher for France than for the United States. The compromise may be based on nine cents from here to France, and forty-five centimes from France to the United States.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

AN IMPORTANT INSURANCE CASE DECIDED.

The Supreme Court, this forenoon, decided the case of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New-York vs. Terry—a case of suicide by poison. The Court holds that the facts show the reason of the deceased to have been so impaired by insanity that his suicide was not his voluntary, intelligent act. On these facts it is held that the company is liable, although the policy provided against suicide.

THE LOUISIANA CASE.

It is thought this afternoon by the leading members of the Supreme Court Bar that the motion submitted to the Court, in conference last Saturday, for the allowance of an appeal in the Warmoth Louisiana case, which was refused by Judge Durell in the court below, will go over until next term.

SECTIONS 16 AND 36—DECISION BY MR. DELANO.

The Secretary of the Interior, to-day, decided the very important and much contested cases of the Keystone Consolidated Mining Company et al. vs. the State of California, and of Benjamin Selling vs. the State of California, both of which involved the question whether the grant to said State of sections 16 and 36 for school purposes, by the act of March 3, 1853, included said sections when they were on mineral lands. The Secretary held, first, that the title to said sections 16 and 36 does not vest in the State until a survey has been made, which brings into existence and locates said sections; and that said mining companies having appropriated said lands under the act of July 26, 1866, prior to such survey they had the better right. Second, that the seventh section of the act of 1853 excepts from the grant all of sections 16 and 36, on which there had been prior to survey a settlement by the erection of a dwelling-house, or the cultivation of any portion of the land, and that the settlement referred to was not limited to what was technically known as the pre-emption settlement. Third, that the grant was not intended to include, and does not, said sections, when they are on mineral lands. The decision was given against the State in both cases.

JUDGMENTS BY THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

The Court of Claims to-day rendered a judgment for $13,595 in favor of Eugene Deikelman a subject of Prussia, for loss sustained by the detention of the Prussian ship Essex, at New-Orleans, under the order of Gen. Butler, on suspicion of containing contraband goods. The Court held the United States liable under the thirteenth article of the Treaty of 1799 with Prussia, which requires damages for such detentions to be paid by either nation, when a belligerent exercises belligerent privileges. Chief-Justice Drake dissented, mainly on the ground that martial law was supreme at that time in New-Orleans, and that the vessel was brought there with the knowledge of the risks incurred of coming in conflict with the will of the military commander. This claim was referred to the Court by a special act of Congress. Judgment was rendered for $18,090 in favor of Andrew J. Gill for 536 tons of hay used by the army in Colorado in 1864 and 1865. The petition of Elijah S. Alvord for compensation on a mail contract in Nebraska, was dismissed. The Court adjourned till next Monday, the Chief-Justice announcing that the remaining cotton cases on the docket would then be proceeded with until finished, after which the Court would adjourn until the third Monday in October.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

The Post-office Department to-day ordered an extension of postal service on the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railroad from Urbana to Havana, Ill., with a branch from Whiteheath to Monticello, a distance of 108 miles. The pay is not fixed.

IOWA LANDS.

Israel Green, of Mount Vernon, Ohio; Orville P. Chubb, of Fairmount, Minn., and Charles Aldrich, of Webster, Iowa, have been appointed commissioners, under the act of the 3d of March last, to ascertain the value of certain lands in Iowa, north of Raccoon fork of the Des Moines River, held by settlers under the pre-emption and homestead laws.

DIVIDENDS TO CREDITORS OF BROKEN NATIONAL BANKS.

The Controller of the Currency has declared a dividend of thirty-two per cent. in favor of the creditors of the Unadilla National Bank, Unadilla, N. Y.; and also a dividend of twenty-five per cent. in favor of the creditors of the Scandinavian National Bank of Chicago, payable as soon as the schedule of creditors can be prepared and examined. The Controller has also directed the receiver of the Eighth National Bank of New-York to make a requisition of fifty-four per cent. upon the shareholders of that bank, to supply the deficiency required for the full payment of the creditors. A small requisition is also to be made upon the shareholders of the Farmers' and Citizens' National Bank of Brooklyn, for the same purpose. The Atlantic National Bank was examined in February and October, 1872. The reports of the examiner show that the capital of the bank was seriously impaired. The Controller of the Currency directed that no further dividends should be declared, and accordingly no dividends were made during the year 1872. Bad debts to the amount of $32,400 were charged off during the same year. The defalcation is supposed to have occurred from the use of special deposits and collaterals by the cashier.

BY MAIL AND TELEGRAPH.

A Toronto, Canada, telegram says that a great coal discovery is reported between Peace and Bone Rivers.

Yesterday afternoon a bricklayer's scaffold gave way in Philadelphia, seriously, if not fatally, injuring Mr. Dasher and his son.

The graduating hop given by the officers of the Artillery School at Fortress Monroe took place on the evening of the 25th inst., and was fully enjoyed.

Alarmed at the numerous recent incendiary fires, the Passaic, N. J., Council have offered $500 reward for the conviction of any incendiaries.

An unknown man about forty-five years of age, a "tramp," cut his throat last night, in the open fields near Harrison-street, Passaic, N. J.

Peter Clark, colored, porter in the Boston and Albany Railroad Depot, in Boston, was caught yesterday between two trains and instantly killed.

The Odd-fellows of the District of Columbia celebrated the fifty-fourth anniversary of the Order last night, in Washington, with addresses and music.

The farmers report a heavy frost in the vicinity of Fortress Monroe on Friday night, which, it is feared, has done considerable damage to early fruits and vegetables.

George Brown, of Halifax, N. S., has issued a challenge to John Biglin, Ward, or Coulter, the preference being given to the first-named, for a match rowing race.

Private dispatches from Buffalo announce that lake navigation is open, and that the Western Transportation Company will dispatch three steamers from that port for Chicago to-day.

A colored farm laborer, named George Burke, of Collinsville, Ill., while drunk, chopped off the head and one arm of Maria Bowman, recently, and threw the body into a ravine. Jealousy prompted the deed.

A drunken passenger on an Erie express-train, from New-York at 7 o'clock last night, drew a large knife and ferociously attacked several passengers. He was taken off the train at Paterson, N. J., and locked up.

The schooner J. E. Lamprey, from Philadelphia, for Newburyport, is ashore on the west end of Pollock Rip, and preparations were making yesterday to get her off. She declined assistance from the steamer Island Home.

Dr. Nathan P. Monroe, for thirty years a prominent physician in Belfast, Me., died on Sunday in Baltimore. He was surgeon of the Twentieth Maine Regiment during the rebellion, and was recently President of the State Medical Society.

John Locke, Town Treasurer of Barnstead, N. H., aged forty-five years, was found drowned on Sunday. He had probably been thrown from his wagon and been stunned, and while trying to find his horse had fallen into the water.

A circular will soon be issued requiring collectors of internal revenue to make two returns during the month of May, from the 1st to the 19th, and from the 19th to the 31st, in order that the liabilities for the new bonds may be determined.

The following were the balances in the United States Treasury yesterday: Currency, $3,046,844; special deposits of legal-tenders for the redemption of certificates of deposit, $29,000,000; coin, $76,151,320, including $26,323,800 in coin certificates.

A sailor on the brig Fylle, from Baltimore, while she was approaching Fortress Monroe, let fall from the maintop-gallant yard a marlinspike, which struck John Kelly in the small of the back, inflicting a serious if not fatal wound. Kelly was sent back to Baltimore.

The Atlantic Wreck—The Search for the Dead.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 28.—Three bodies were recovered from the wreck on Saturday. The body of a woman was found on the bottom a few feet from the sunken hull, with her eyes picked out, otherwise the bodies were in a good state of preservation. Nothing was done at the wreck yesterday, there being too much undertow for the divers.

Capt. Sheridan says his men could have brought up more bodies from the wreck if the New-York Wrecking Company permitted the removal of goods and luggage floating in the steerage. Scarcely anything was done by the New-York Wrecking Company last week in saving the cargo. On Saturday they brought up a few cases of hardware. An attempt was made to blow off a portion of the vessel's side, but was not successful. Another attempt was to be made this morning. The Lackawanna took down a large quantity of powder for that purpose yesterday.

Capt. Williams and Merritt went to Prospect to-day, where they will remain for a few days.

Persons visiting the wreck yesterday say that on looking into the side-light they perceived a large trunk, with a Saratoga label, floating by; and while looking through a port-hole, the body of a boy, with light hair, floated past.

A rumor was current last night that the body of Mrs. Fisher, for the recovery of which $5,000 is offered, was found at sea by a vessel.

Chinese Labor in St. Louis—Threatened Strike of Coopers.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 28.—Between fifty and sixty Chinese were set to work in the cooper-shop of Jaynes & Co. to-day. Considerable indignation was manifested by the coopers, and a number of them entered the shop and indulged in rather threatening remarks, and intimated that a strike would occur, but there being a strong force of police on the grounds, no demonstration was made, and the probabilities are that no disturbance will result. There are now nearly 1,000 Chinese engaged in various occupations in this city.

Billiards.

BOSTON, April 28.—A game of billiards was played here this evening between Frank Dennison, present champion, and T. R. Bullock, for $200, the championship of Massachusetts, and a golden cue, fifteen hundred points up. Dennison had first innings in which he made a run of 98, his second 110, and subsequently he scored 126, his highest number. Bullock made some capital shots. His highest run was 207, and his second best 97. Total, 716. Dennison's average, 41¾; Bullock's, 23¼.

Funeral of Detective Napoleon Wooldridge.

The funeral of Detective Napoleon Wooldridge, of the Central Office, took place from his late residence, No. 134 White-street, yesterday. The remains were removed from the house and escorted to St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church, in Duane-street, by the associates of the deceased in the detective office, a section of the Sixth Precinct Police, and a large number of the friends and relatives. The remains were interred in Calvary Cemetery.

Fatal Accident at the Erie Depot, Jersey City.

James Bunks, a Scotchman, was instantly killed at the Erie Depot, Jersey City, yesterday morning. He was engaged in coupling cars, when his head was crushed between the bumpers as he reached down to catch the safety chain. He died instantly, and his body was delivered to Dr. Buck, County Physician. Deceased had a family consisting of a wife and four children, and had been employed on the road for several years.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The French Elections—Republican and Radical Successes—Comments of the Paris Journals—The Ministry.

PARIS, April 28.—The following are the final returns of the election in this city yesterday to fill the vacant seat in the National Assembly:

M. Barodet....	[illegible]
Count de Remusat....	[illegible]
Baron Stoffel....	[illegible]

The elections in the departments of Correze, Jura, and Marne were carried by the Republicans. In Morbihan the Catholics were successful.

The election of M. Barodet to the National Assembly from this city will probably lead to the modification of the Ministry. It is probable that Count de Remusat, Minister of Foreign Affairs; M. Leon Say, Minister of Finance, and M. Jules Simon, Minister of Public Instruction, will resign. M. Cassimir-Perier, formerly Minister of the Interior, and M. Grevy, late President of the Assembly, are talked of as probable members of the new Cabinet.

PARIS, April 28—Evening.—The total result of the voting in Paris, and other parts of France, yesterday, to fill vacancies in the Assembly, was the election of three Radicals, four Republicans, and one Legitimist.

All the journals except the Radical organs express surprise at the vote in the Department of the Seine. The Conservative papers say it is due to Thiers' leaning to the Left, and the Republican journals attribute it to mistakes in the Assembly. The Bien Public looks upon Barodet's triumph as a serious event, but repudiates the idea that its party is discouraged.

The Monarchical Press generally regard the election as a terrible awakening for the Conservatives. Le Temps pronounces it a warning to the Government.

The Moderate Republicans who supported the Count de Remusat are embarrassed by his defeat.

M. de Remusat has expressed his desire to resign the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, but President Thiers has induced him to remain in office.

Effect of the French Elections.

PARIS, April 28—Evening.—Count de Remusat's Electoral Committee this afternoon visited President Thiers, who appeared to be discouraged.

It is reported that when the President first received the news of the Count's defeat, he retired to his room and remained one hour alone.

There are fears that the Right in the Assembly will now insist on restricting and otherwise modifying universal suffrage.

The Bonapartist journals declare that the Conservative Republic is dead.

White frost has destroyed the vines in the vicinity of Lyons. The disaster is similar to that of 1817.

The Vienna Cabmen Strike—Arrival of a Danish Prince.

VIENNA, April 28.—The cabmen have struck in consequence of a disagreement with the authorities in regard to the tariff of fares. They are threatened with fine, imprisonment, and the loss of their licenses if they persist in the strike.

Frederick, the Crown Prince of Denmark, has arrived in this city.

LONDON, April 28.—A special dispatch to the Daily News, from Vienna, says all the newspapers of that city comment at length upon the suspension of the American Commissioners to the Exposition. Some of the papers say the Commissioners received large sums of money for concessions for restaurants in the American Department before their departure from the United States. It is also said one Commissioner borrowed money from a concessionnaire after his arrival in Vienna. The American section of the Exhibition is in perfect chaos. The Commissioners vehemently protest against their suspension.

A Million Dollar Fire in Manchester, England—Royal Visits Expected.

LONDON, April 28.—The carriage works of the Lancashire Railway Company, in Manchester, were destroyed by fire last night. Fifty locomotives and 120 coaches, which were in the building, were burned. The loss is $1,000,000.

The King and Queen of Denmark will visit London the latter part of May.

Indirect Taxation in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, April 29—3 A. M.—In the House of Commons to-night, Mr. Smith moved that, before deciding on the further reduction of indirect taxation, the House demand of the Government a declaration of its views respecting the adjustment of imperial and local taxation.

Mr. Lowe, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Northcote, and Messrs. Fawcett, Massey, Goschen, and several others made speeches. The debate, which was somewhat acrimonious, was protracted to a late hour, and was adjourned until Thursday.

LONDON, April 29—5½ A. M.—Special dispatches to the London morning journals of to-day represent that the success of Barodet had created an immense impression in Paris. The city and provinces were agitated. A panic prevailed on the Bourse yesterday, and patrols were required to maintain order in the suburbs during the afternoon and night.

The reports of changes in the Ministry are contradicted.

Carlists Forcing Loans—The Permanent Committee of the Assembly.

MADRID, April 28.—A band of 500 Carlists entered the town of Capellades, thirty miles north-west of Barcelona, and demanded a contribution, but fled on the approach of the national troops.

LONDON, April 28.—A dispatch from Madrid says the search for the members of the Permanent Committee continues. Señors Becerra and Figuerola have been arrested.

A monster mass-meeting of Federalists was held yesterday, at which violent speeches were made.

LONDON, April 29—3 A. M.—Reports are in circulation that the Carlists intend to withdraw from Spain and give up the struggle for the present.

Condition of the Pope—Republican Movement in Portugal.

ROME, April 28.—The Pope passed a restless night. The anxiety in regard to his condition is renewed.

LISBON, April 28.—A club has been formed in this city having for its object the union of Portuguese Republicans.

Cable Consolidation.

LONDON, April 29—5½ A. M.—The Anglo-American, the French, and the Newfoundland Cable Companies agreed, yesterday, to an amalgamation of their interests.

Murder and Robbery on the Plains.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nevada, April 28.—The stage from Hamilton for Pioche was robbed last night, near Hamilton, and the driver killed, by three men painted to give them the appearance of Indians, and having gunny sacks over their heads. No resistance whatever was offered. The driver stopped the stage when ordered, and, on demand, handed out Wells-Fargo & Co.'s treasure-box. It is supposed that the shot which killed the driver was fired unintentionally through nervousness of one of the robbers. The passengers, five in number, were unmolested. The loss to the express company is trifling. Parties of men accompanied by Indians are out in search of the robbers.

MONDAY, April 28—P. M.

The sales of Gold fell off to-day to 117½@117 ⅌ cent., while Exchange on London, on easier Gold, and the prepayment of May Interest on the Public Debt, of which over $10,000,000 will be collected for foreign Bondholders, ordered from Washington this morning, advanced to 108½ ⅌ cent. The order from the Treasury to sell $6,000,000 Gold through the month of May also had some influence in the Gold Room, although it would be difficult to explain why less than this sum was expected to be sold in May. A rumor last week that the sales would be practically suspended during the coming month, because of the Interest Payments, and the redemption of $50,000,000 United States 5-20s of 1862 on the 1st of June, was wholly unfounded. We have heretofore explained that the $50,000,000 of 1862 is guaranteed by the Syndicate to be exchanged in London, or redeemed at Washington by Exchange on London. The Treasury is of course responsible that every dollar presented here will be promptly paid, but the Department has the contract from six of the wealthiest London and New-York Banking firms, comprising the Syndicate, that they will supply the Gold. As to the May Interest, it amounts to only about $7,000,000 in excess of the Customs of the month, or less than a tenth of the Gold Coin now held in the Treasury.

The Treasury prepaid to-day $1,500,000 of May Interest.

Money was 7 ⅌ cent. Gold Interest to the Stock Exchange borrowers, 9@10 ⅌ cent. on prime mercantile paper not accommodated at 7 ⅌ cent. at Bank. The market was only moderately easy. Confidence was partially disturbed by the scandalous Bank failure of Saturday, and the connection of the defaulting Cashier with the Share speculation in Wall-street.

The same cause, and the previous dull feeling, unsettled the Stock market, and caused prices to fall off 1@1½ ⅌ cent. from the average sales Saturday on some of the Western Roads and on Pacific Mail and Western Telegraph. The last named was especially weak under a heavy pressure to sell the Cash Stock, and the same eagerness was shown to sell Lake Shore, Ohios, St. Paul, and Union Pacific, and, to less extent, New-York Central and Rock Island. The Public Funds were steady; the Railway Mortgages quiet, except on Union Pacific, which were weaker, and the Southern State Bonds neglected.

At 4 o'clock P. M., on closing of the Exchange, the following quotations were made as compared with Saturday night:

Money closed dearer to the Stock borrowers, and the prices on the speculative Stocks were generally weak, the Bull operaters apparently discouraged on Western Telegraph, Pacific Mail, St. Paul, &c.

The last prices for the various Public Funds of the United States are as follows:

UNITED STATES TREASURY,
NEW-YORK, April 28, 1873.

Gold receipts	$651,002 98
Gold payments	195,741 31
Gold balance	43,743,814 30
Currency receipts	290,255 38
Currency payments	319,162 42
Currency balance	18,415,511 35
Customs	304,000

The following is the Gold Interest to be paid on the Public Debt of the United States in the month of May, at all the offices of the Treasury, to which we subjoin the estimated proportions going to European bondholders:

	Foreign.	Total.
On 5-20s, 1862	$6,600,000	$7,922,704
On 1864s	500,000	2,082,562
On 1865s	3,400,000	4,669,655
On new 5s	800,000	2,500,000
Together	$11,300,000	$17,174,921

A morning paper misapprehends the purpose of a recent Act of the Alabama Legislature in regard to State indorsement of Railroad Bonds. The Act applies only to a half dozen recently projected and unfinished lines, and the proposition is not to repudiate the promised indorsement of $16,000 per mile, but to give out and out $4,000 per mile direct State Bonds bearing 7 ⅌ cent. Gold Interest. The Act does not interfere in any way with the finished lines, nor does it attempt to impair the obligation of the State, by way of direct aid or of indorsements for these lines. The whole of the new lines concerned, upon which only partial outlay has been made, amounts to 235 miles.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

BANKING HOUSE OF FISK & HATCH,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, April 28, 1873.

The present high price of Government Securities is increasing the demand for first-class Railroad Bonds; and as the amounts now offering are comparatively small, it is reasonable to suppose the present difference of from TWENTY to THIRTY per cent. cannot be obtained for any great length of time. Government Bonds are higher now than for several years past. A "Five-twenty" Bond at 120, paying six per cent. on the par value, yields but a small income on its market price, and if an entirely safe investment can be obtained with a difference of 200 to 300 dollars on each 1,000, it is largely to the interest of the holders to make the exchange.

We are recommending the following for such Exchanges or for new investments—all of them payable in gold, principal and interest:

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENTS at 88 and accrued interest, interest payable May and November; these bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500, and $1,000. The road, 420 miles in length, is now completed, and the business offering is very large, and increasing daily.

The WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENTS at the market price, which is to-day 95, flat. These bonds are of $1,000 each; interest payable January and July. This road having been consolidated with the great CENTRAL PACIFIC, and payment of its bonds, principal and interest, assumed by them, we see no good reason why they should not soon approximate in price to Central Pacifics—now 103, and becoming very scarce in the market.

Also, the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SEVEN PER CENTS, interest payable January and July, secured by a First Mortgage on the Extension to deep water on Chesapeake Bay, on the proposed Kanawha River Branch, and on the Great Bridge to be built over the Ohio River at Huntington, and a Second Mortgage on the Main Line, with all its equipments, depots, &c.

Only $3,000,000 of these Bonds will be offered for sale at present. Price 90 and accrued interest.

We consider them amply secured, and a very desirable investment. The proceeds will be used in adding largely to the present equipment, and in extending to deep water on the Chesapeake Bay, where the largest steamers in the world can load and unload alongside the cars.

The amount of money to be invested within the next few months will be very large; the Government disbursement alone for the next three months will reach $100,000,000, and the May and July dividends of the banks, railroads, and other corporations as much more.

We continue to deal in Government and Central Pacific Bonds, receive deposits on which we allow interest, make collections, execute orders at the Stock Exchange for cash, and conduct a general banking business.

BEES-WAX—Has been in light supply and moderate demand at from 36c.@38½c. for ordinary to choice ⅌ ℔.

CANDLES—Have been selling slowly, in job lots, on a steady basis as to values. Adamantine, 10 ounces, at 20c.@21c.; Paraffine, 25c.@33c.; Sperm, plain, 31c.; Sperm, patent, 40c.@42c.; Stearic, 28c.@29c. ⅌ ℔.

COAL—Domestic product has been in fair request at steady rates. Foreign has been quiet at unchanged prices. We quote: Liverpool House Cannel at $18@$20; do. Gas. do. at $15@$18; Anthracite, from yard, $5@$6 50 ⅌ ton.

COCOA—Has been held with some show of confidence, but has been without animation. Caracas quoted at 15c.@16c.; Guayaquil, 10½c.@11c.; San Domingo, 7c., gold, ⅌ ℔.

COFFEE—Rio has been held with firmness, but the extreme rates asked tended to check trade, though a fair demand was noted. Sales have been reported, here, since our last, of 2,690 bags, by the Gassendi, and 2,646 bags by the Juno, and at Baltimore, 676 bags by the Newlight, and 1,500 bags to arrive by the Amazon, on private terms. Some dealers quote prices ¼c. under our figures, with, however, a strong market. Other kinds have been quiet, chiefly for want of desirable stock; sales, 517 bags Laguayra at 18¼c., gold, ⅌ ℔. We now quote invoices thus: Rio, ordinary, 17c.@17¼c.; fair, 17¾c.@18c.; good, 18¼c.@18½c.; prime, 19c.@19¼c., gold, ⅌ ℔., 60 and 90 days' credit; Rio, in lots, 17¼c.@19¾c., gold; Java, 19¾c.@21¾c.; Maracaibo, 18c.@19c.; Laguayra, 18c.@19c.; San Domingo, 15¼c.@16c., gold.

COTTON—Has been quoted up ⅛c. ⅌ ℔., but very quiet for early delivery; sales, 727 bales, (of which 21 bales were to arrive,) including 386 bales to shippers, 332 bales to spinners, and 9 bales to speculators. There has been rather more doing for forward delivery, but at a reduction of 1-16c. ⅌ ℔. Sales have been officially reported since our last of 15,350 bales, (of which 5,600 bales on Saturday evening and 9,750 bales to-day,) basis Low Middling, with May contracts closing about steady at 18 13-16c.; June at 19⅛c.; July at 19¾c.@19 5-16c.; August at 19¾c. The receipts at this port to-day were 5,317 bales, including 112 bales from Morehead City, 2,220 bales from New-Orleans, 298 bales from Galveston, 529 bales from Savannah, 187 bales from Indianola, 975 bales from Norfolk, 419 bales from Key West, 577 bales per rail. The reported receipts at all the ports to-day were 8,413 bales, and thus far this week 13,696 bales, against 18,802 bales same time the previous week, and, since Sept. 1, 3,215,475 bales, against 2,554,075 bales same time last year. The following quotations are based on Cotton in store running in quality not more than half a grade above or below the grade named:

EGGS—There has been a fairly active movement noted, with comparatively ample supplies available, within the range of from 15½c.@17½c. for fair ordinary to very choice marks of Southern, Western, and near-by stock, with the bulk of the dealings in really prime stock at 16½c.@17c. ⅌ dozen.

FLOUR AND MEAL—A somewhat livelier inquiry has been noted for State and Western Flour on a steadier basis as to values. The home trade demand has been more active, and the export call moderate. Desirable shipping extras have been scarce, and held with decidedly more confidence. Superfine also in light stock and wanted. Sales have been reported since our last of 11,450 bbls., all told, including very inferior to choice Superfine State and Western at $5 90@$6 35, chiefly at $6 15@$6 25; inferior to good extra State, $7@$7 50, chiefly at $7 20@$7 35; good to very fancy do., $7 50@$8 25; poor to very good shipping Extra Western at $6 90@$7 45, chiefly at $7 10@$7 30 for prompt delivery; very poor to good shipping brands round-hoop Ohio, $7@$7 50 ⅌ bbl.; and trade and family Extras at proportionate rates.

Southern Flour has been more freely dealt in, in good part for export, at full prices. The main inquiry was for medium grade stock. Sales 1,650 bbls. at $6@$8 25 for very poor to very choice shipping, and $8 15@$12 50 for ordinary to very choice Family Extra ⅌ bbl.... California and Oregon Flour has been inactive, with fair to very choice Extra quoted at $8 75@$10 50 ....There has been a good demand noted for Rye Flour at $4 10@$5 75 for inferior to choice Superfine; sales, 525 bbls., chiefly at $5 50@$5 75 for the better grades, ⅌ bbl....Corn-meal has been quite active at from $3 10@$3 50 for inferior to very choice Yellow Western, chiefly $3 25@$3 50 for fair to very choice; $3 15@$3 40 for White do.; $3 25@$3 35 for Jersey; $3 40 for Marsh's Caloric, and $3 50@$3 60 for Brandywine. The reported sales since our last have been 1,700 bbls. ....Bag-meal in good request at from $1 28@$1 32 for coarse; $1 30@$1 34 for Yellow; $1 35@$1 40 for White. Oat-meal at $7 50@$8 50.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been quite moderately sought after, and quoted rather less firm as to values, though strictly prime stock has been held with a fair show of confidence, having been comparatively scarce. The export inquiry has been on a restricted scale. There has been little call for milling purposes. Winter Wheat has been dull within the previous range. Sales have been reported since our last of 61,000 bushels, at $1 68@$1 70 for No. 2 Milwaukee Spring, afloat, mostly car lots; $1 68@$1 69 for fair to good; $1 65@$1 68 for No. 2 North-western Spring; $1 65 for No. 2 Chicago do.; $1 55@$1 61 for No. 3 Spring; $1 35@$1 52½ for rejected and inferior Spring, with $1 75@$1 80 named as the quotations for No. 1 Milwaukee Spring; $1 90@$1 95 for fair to prime Red Western; $1 95@$2 for Amber do.; $1 95@$2 25 for White do.; $1 90@$2 for Red and Amber State; and $2@$2 35 for White do., the latter rate for Fancy.... For forward delivery, prime Spring has been in some request, but the bids have been 2c.@3c. under the views of holders, and no further sales have been made since the trade reported in our last in No. 2 Milwaukee, June option, at $1 62 ⅌ bushel... Corn has been less urgently inquired for by shippers, as well as the home trade, and has been quoted somewhat easier in price. Toward the close, influenced in part by the lower rates on freight by steam to Liverpool, the market exhibited rather more firmness, especially for prime samples of old Mixed Western, in store. Sales have been reported since our last of 78,000 bushels at 68c.@68½c. for old Mixed Western, in store, closing with 68¼c. bid for strictly prime samples; 70½c.@72c. for fair ordinary to very choice New Mixed Western; 72½c.@73c. for Yellow Western and Jersey; 77c.@80c. for White Southern. For forward delivery, holders were claiming 3c.@5c. a bushel more than buyers were willing to pay for Mixed Western, and no dealings were reported.... Rye held firmly, but quiet; no further dealings reported. Canada, in bond, quoted at 95c.@98c.; Western at 83c.@86c....Barley has been inactive and weak in price; sales, 4,000 bushels Western on private terms; quoted at 80c.@95c. for ordinary car stock, with Canada West at $1 10@$1 20 for strictly prime. ....Barley-malt quite dull within the previous range. ....Oats have been in less request and weak as to price, closing decidedly in favor of buyers in the instance of other than strictly prime samples, which latter were offered with reserve. Sales have been reported since our last of 46,000 bushels at 53c.@55½c. for New Mixed Western, chiefly at 54c.@55c. for car lots, 51c.@54½c. for New Black do., 55½c.@57½c. for New White do., 55c. for New Mixed State....Feed in demand and quoted at from $21@$25 ⅌ ton....Hay and Straw in request within the previous range.

MOLASSES—Has been very quiet, within the previous range. We quote: New-Orleans, inferior to fancy at 55c.@80c.; Porto Rico at 35c.@65c.; Cuba at 30c.@45c., and English Islands at 25c.@50c. ⅌ gallon.

NAVAL STORES.—Resin has been quoted about as before, on a restricted business. Sales 900 bbls. good Strained at $3 35; and 1,000 bbls. No. 2, at $3 50 ⅌ 280 ℔s....Tar firm, but quiet....Spirits Turpentine heavy and lower, with a moderate inquiry noted. Sales 234 bbls., in lots, at 53c.@54c., closing weak at 53c. ⅌ gallon.

PETROLEUM.—Crude, in bulk, quoted at 10¼c. on a strong market, with a fair inquiry noted. Sales 1,000 bbls....Refined has been in fairly active demand, and quoted higher, with sales of 5,000 bbls. last half of May option, at 21c.; 4,000 bbls. first half of do., at 21¼c.; 3,000 bbls., last half of May and first of June, on private terms; 5,000 bbls., August, at 21¾c.; and 2,500 bbls. high test, last half of May, at 21¼c....Refined, at Philadelphia, quoted at 20c.@20¼c., but quiet.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been very dull for early delivery, and quoted heavy and irregular, with sales reported of only small lots of new Western Mess at $19 50, with full lots quoted nominally at $18 75@$19. ....For forward delivery, a limited demand has been noted, with prices favoring buyers at the close. Sales since our last, 500 bbls. new Western Mess, May option, at $18 50; 1,000 bbls. do., June options, at $18 50@$18 62½, closing at $18 50....City-dressed Hogs in demand at 8c.@8¼c., chiefly at 8c.; Western wholly nominal....Cut-meats have been very dull, within the previous modified range; sales, 50 boxes Light Bellies at 10¼c., 65 boxes Dry-salted Shoulders at 7c.@7 1-16c., 28 tcs. fancy Bagged Hams at 15¼c., and sundry lots of Bulk Meats at former figures....Bacon quiet; sales, 100 boxes Long Clear at 9¾c., 200 boxes Short Clear at 10c., and 200 boxes do., May option, at 10¼c. ⅌ ℔., showing steadiness.... Lard has been slow of sale, and quoted easier in price, closing weak. Sales have been reported since our last of small lots of Western Steam, prime to choice, at 9¾c.@9⅞c., 350 tcs. Western Kettle at 9¾c., 350 tcs. fair to prime City Steam and Kettle at 9c.@9¼c.... For forward delivery there has been a limited movement noted, at less firm prices; sales, 250 tcs. NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE WORKS
CHARLES DICKENS,

Profusely illustrated with steel engravings, from drawings by H. K. Browne, Cruikshank, and other distinguished artists.

In monthly volumes, large 8vo, carefully printed in large type on superfine paper, and bound in extra cloth. $3 each.

Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co. have pleasure in announcing that they have concluded arrangements with the owners of the copyright, and the English publishers, for the issue in the United States of a standard library edition of the writings of the late Mr. Charles Dickens. The design of the publishers is to make this edition the finest and most complete that has ever been issued. As they have at their command the papers of Mr. Dickens, and as they will, in the production of the illustrations, be assisted by nearly all the artists and engravers originally employed in the embellishment of Mr. Dickens' works, their ability to accomplish the object which they have in view is fully assured.

NOW READY:

AUCTION SALES.

SALE BY AUCTION OF THE NEW-ORLEANS, MOBILE, AND TEXAS RAILROAD—Circuit Court of the United States, District of Louisiana—Henry J. Gardner and Peter Butler vs. New-Orleans, Mobile, and Texas Railroad Company—No. 6,988.—Pursuant to a decree rendered in the Circuit Court aforesaid, at the term of said court commencing the first Monday of November last and under the authority of said court, and to carry into execution the terms of a deed of trust or mortgage executed by the said corporation, bearing date on the 8th of March, A. D. 1869, to the plaintiffs in said cause and filed in the proceedings of the suit aforesaid to secure by the terms of the same four thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, of a uniform series, with coupons attached of forty dollars each, payable the first day of April and of October of each year, and upon which mortgage or deed there is due the sum of four million three hundred and twenty thousand dollars, as declared in the decree in said cause; The undersigned trustees, under the supervision and direction of the undersigned masters appointed in the decree, will, on Friday, the sixth day of June, 1873, in the City of New-Orleans, in front of the post-office of the said city, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and 3 o'clock P. M., proceed to sell the following property described in the said mortgage or deed in four separate parcels, as hereinafter described, at public auction for cash to the highest bidder: First, all that portion of the main line of the railroad of the said New-Orleans, Mobile and Texas Railroad Company, located or to be located between the cities of New-Orleans and Mobile, and within the said cities and upon the lands, buildings, machinery, rolling stock, and other real and personal property, and the franchises, tolls, rights, and privileges pertaining and exclusively belonging separately used with the same and branches and to said portion of the main line of the said railroad, and roads connecting thereunto, including all the depots, station-houses, engine-houses, car-houses, freight-houses, store-houses, wharves, warehouses, wood-houses, machine shops, repair shops, business offices, and other shops, offices and buildings now owned or possessed by said corporation, together with the superstructure and iron rails and its appurtenances, rolling stock, engines, cars, tenders, tools, machinery, steamboats, tugboats and their tackle, apparel and furniture, and other personal property and stock in connecting roads used as aforesaid, and the ferry rights across the Mississippi River. Second, all that portion of the road commencing at the point Westwego opposite to the city of New-Orleans, on the west bank of the Mississippi River, and extending along the track of road for a distance of seventy miles, with all the rights of the said corporation in the said portion of the main line; together with the lands, buildings, machinery, stock, and other real and personal property, and the franchises, tolls, rights, privileges pertaining and exclusively belonging to the said portion of the said road, and separately used with the same, and including depots, station-houses, engine-houses, car-houses, freight-houses, store-houses, wharves, warehouses, sheds, machine-shops, offices, and buildings, in connection with the said portion of road west of Mississippi River, together with the superstructure, iron rails, and appurtenances; also, the rolling stock, engines, cars, tenders, tools, steam-boats, machinery and other boats and vessels, and their tackle, apparel, and furniture, fuel, materials, and other personal property appertaining to and used with the constructing, repairing, or carrying on the business of this portion of the road separately and exclusively. Third, all that portion of the main line of said road located or to be located from the point on the road seventy miles from Westwego, and extending westerly through the State of Louisiana to the Sabine River, with all the lands, buildings, rights of way, superstructures, franchises, tolls, privileges, depots, stations, or other rights of way of the said corporation, or which may be held or conveyed by the said trustees or under this decree with the connecting roads, either located or surveyed, or to be located and surveyed, in the State of Louisiana, and which appertains to the said road or connecting roads or branch roads of that portion of the said road within the said State. Fourth, all of the road from the Sabine River to the City of Houston, in the State of Texas, with all the lands, right of way, superstructions, buildings, depots, stations, station-houses, shops, rolling stock, machinery, materials, appertaining or belonging to the line of road from the Sabine River aforesaid to the City of Houston, and exclusively belonging to the same, and any other real and personal property, franchises, rights of way, tolls, grants of privileges not herein described, and which are included in the said deed; and it is to be understood that the sale under this deed of trust, and the decree herein mentioned, is to be subject to a deed of trust bearing date the 1st day of January, 1869, by the said corporation to Oakes Ames and Edwin D. Morgan, trustees, and which affects that portion of the said road and property before mentioned lying within the cities of New-Orleans and Mobile and between the said cities, and is not to impair in any manner the incumbrance aforesaid or the rights under the said deed, the said mortgage or deed to said parties being made to secure a uniform series of bonds of four thousand in number, and each for one thousand dollars, with interest, coupons attached of forty dollars each, payable semi-annually on the 1st of January and July of each year, and bearing even date with the mortgage, and which is referred to in the said mortgage or deed of trust to the plaintiff in this suit. And it is further understood that the property included in the second and third or other parcels above described, being the property lying westerly of the City of New-Orleans and the Mississippi River, in the States of Louisiana and Texas, shall be subject to the mortgages or deeds of trust executed by the said corporation under the power reserved in the deed of mortgage or trust described in the proceedings in this cause to issue bonds to an amount in the aggregate not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars per mile for each mile of the railroad or railroads constructed west of the Mississippi River, which power has been executed by the said corporation by the execution of a mortgage executed to Oakes Ames and Edwin D. Morgan, dated the 15th day of March, 1870, whereby an issue of bonds to the amount of twelve thousand five hundred dollars per mile was provided for upon all the tract of road in the State of Louisiana, and the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for all of the track west of the Louisiana line and lying in the State of Texas, which mortgage was modified by an act of mortgage dated 1st January, 1872, but does not increase the amount of the incumbrances; and also a further mortgage, bearing date 1st July, 1870, securing the payment of the second mortgage bonds guaranteed by the State of Louisiana, and which mortgage is an incumbrance on the railroad of said corporation to the west of the river Mississippi and extending to the Sabine River, and all other mortgages existing under said power. There will be prepared twenty days before the day of sale an inventory of the property to be sold in the different parcels, and copies of the mortgages will be in the hands of the Masters for exhibition to any person desiring to purchase. The power to the Trustees to bid for the bondholders is reserved in the decree. The Trustees and the Masters will give information of the matter intrusted to them prior to the sale.

All the details of the Modoc massacre are given in the report of Mr. MEACHAM, published this morning, and it is beyond doubt that the treachery was as deliberately planned as it was brutally consummated. Gen. CANBY and party agreed to meet six unarmed Indians, but encountered instead eight armed savages, and were engaged in renewing the offer of amnesty when the signal for the murderous work was given by Capt. JACK. The most revolting aspect of the tragedy being thus confirmed, it is not pleasant to be told by the latest news from Yreka that it seems certain the Modocs have escaped from their fastness in small parties. This is something more serious than the escape of the murderers, for it involves the danger that other tribes will be incited to hostilities, thus causing general and protracted disturbances in Oregon and California.

The consolidation of the stock held by private parties in the Brooklyn Bridge Company, and the consequent reduction of the value of this class of shares to $250,000, ought to be followed by a larger representation of the two municipalities on the Board of Directors. Nothing can be said against the character or ability of the existing board; but as the bridge must now become a public enterprise, in the strict sense of the term, it ought to be managed by the representatives of the people who have got to pay for it. Can we not have a board of gentlemen intrusted with the execution of this great work, who would be as thoroughly above reproach and as desirous to push it to a successful conclusion as were those who composed our original Central Park Commission?

Intending visitors to Vienna will be interested to hear that they will have a choice of something like thirty different routes, or rather of railroad and steam-boat combinations, to choose from when they reach England. The London Standard is the authority for the statements which we summarize in regard to the leading roads to Vienna. The journey can be done in fifty hours by way of Calais, Cologne, Darmstadt, Nürnberg, and Passau, at a cost of $36, gold. This is the price of what is called a "mixed ticket," i. e., first-class to Cologne, and second-class cars from that point. By way of Cologne, Frankfort, Munich, and Salzburg the journey requires twenty-four hours more, and costs $45 66 first-class ticket, and $32 30 second-class. Taking the somewhat longer channel passage between Newhaven and Dieppe, and the railroad connections by way of Paris, Strasburg, Stuttgart, Augsburg, and Munich, the trip will cost $43 72, gold, or a return ticket can be had for $66 72. Four days are required for the journey by this route. Then, there is the cheapest of all the routes, that by Hamburg or Bremen and the East German railroads, which can be traversed for $32 48, gold, for a first-class ticket, and the almost equally cheap route by Harwich and Rotterdam, or Antwerp, Cologne, and the Rhine, Darmstadt or Frankfort, Munich and Salzburg, for which a first-class return ticket can be had for $50, gold, and a second-class return for $40. By this last route the traveler can see the best part of the Rhine, can spend a few hours in Cologne, a night in Munich, and can accomplish the single journey in four days.

How difficult it is to extirpate the corruption TWEED implanted in our Municipal administration is seen in the fact that the Committee on Armories of the Board of Supervisors, in auditing a bill for $59,829 for work done in repairing the Centre Market Armory, has found it necessary to cut it down to [illegible]. This overcharge of over $30,000 would never have been made if the practices of TWEED had not led to a general belief that the City is a legitimate object of pillage. That such bills are rendered when they are certain to be severely scrutinized is also another proof of the gigantic robberies which were perpetrated, in connection with the armories, during the Tammany ascendency. TWEED could have gathered from this one source a large portion of the immense sums he spent in subsidizing newspapers. It was certainly much more than he used to buy the praises of the decrepit World when his villainies had all been exposed.

Mr. S. S. COX's way of dealing with his back pay is that of an honest man, and a straightforward and upright public servant. There still remain many who might with credit—and profit as well—follow his example.

About Ourselves.

The statements of a newspaper about its own affairs have, of late, come to be regarded with unusual suspicion. People have been disgusted by the blatant boasting of one prominent journal, which pads out monster sheets by illegal and unpaid-for insertions of Government proposals, which draws into its treasury the unclean gains of the vilest class of "medical" adventurers, and which keeps a lobby at Albany for the purpose of forcing open the City strong-box by the burglarious lever of corrupt legislation. They have been amused by the claims to continued prosperity put forward by another notorious paper, which speaks of "our overflowing treasury" one day, and urges the necessity for cutting down its exchange list on grounds of economy the next, which chronicles increased receipts in presence of a shattered reputation, and of a beggarly show of advertisements.

While we are acutely conscious of how greatly vulgarized, not to use a stronger word, the practice of personal statements by newspapers has lately become, we have a few things to say about ourselves which cannot be well left unsaid. In saying them, we shall confine ourselves to a simple recital of facts. It can hardly have escaped the notice of any of our readers that THE TIMES continues to enjoy a steady and unexampled course of prosperity. Our advertising receipts for the first four months of the present year will certainly be considerably in excess of those of any corresponding period since the foundation of the paper. Our subscription list was never so large, and our circulation through dealers never maintained so steady a rate of increase as at the present time. These evidences of public appreciation and confidence are being met by us with something more than a mere grateful acknowledgment. Apart from our unremitting efforts in favor of practical and beneficial reform in every department of politics and society; apart from our steadfast endeavor to supply full, clear, and trustworthy news reports on every subject of current interest, we are making special exertions to render THE TIMES still more worthy of the high place it occupies, and the distinguished reputation which it has earned.

The mechanical department of our office is in process of thorough renewal and very considerable extension. We are now preparing for the reception of new presses, which, by shortening the period required for working off the very heavy issues of our several editions, will give us new facilities for the insertion of news received at a very late hour in the morning. In a few weeks we shall be able to present THE TIMES in an entirely new typographical dress, which both readers and advertisers will recognize as a most becoming and valuable improvement. For clearness and beauty we think that our new type will be found unrivaled by that of any of our local contemporaries.

In regard to matters of coming interest we have made such arrangements as will be thoroughly satisfactory to our readers. As a proof of this, we may mention that we have secured as our chief correspondent at the Vienna Exhibition the well-known and eminent descriptive writer, Mr. WILLIAM H. RUSSELL, LL. D. This acute and thoroughly experienced observer has been specially invited to join the suite of the Prince of WALES, and left London for Vienna on Thursday last. Dr. RUSSELL's opportunities for observation will be of the most exceptional character, and his letters may be expected to form, as did those he wrote during the German war, highly valuable contributions to current history. In addition to Dr. RUSSELL we shall have a staff of well-trained correspondents at Vienna.

It is only necessary to add that our discharge of the functions of a high-toned and earnest Republican newspaper will be regulated by the same sense of public duty which has heretofore guided us. We stand pledged to carry the administrative and judicial reform of New-York City to its legitimate conclusion, as well as to use all our endeavors so that every branch of national activity may be purged of corruption, injustice, and the sacrifice of public welfare to individual profit.

A Turning Point in French Politics.

The election of Sunday last for a representative to the National Assembly for the city of Paris was generally avowed as a trial of strength between the Republicans who call themselves "Conservative" and "Moderate," and who approve of the "see-saw" policy of M. THIERS, and those other Republicans who call themselves "Radical" and follow the lead of M. GAMBETTA. The two men between whom the contest was supposed to lie were admirably fitted to be representatives of the question at issue between the two sections of French Republicans. M. DE REMUSAT is a man of undoubted ability and eminence, a life-long friend of M. THIERS, and one who shared, perhaps equally with the President, the glory of having negotiated the treaty for the early evacuation of French territory. As Minister of Foreign Affairs his candidature was certain to form a test of the strength of the influence of M. THIERS and his Cabinet among the electors of Paris, and, as our latest dispatches show, the integrity of that Cabinet and the policy it represented were held as identified with the success or failure of M. DE REMUSAT. The Radical candidate, M. BARODET, was known to the masses as "the martyr of Lyons." He had been associated with the somewhat notorious Lyons Committee of Public Safety, and as Mayor of the municipal body which inherited some of the traditions of its revolutionary predecessor, he had been deprived of office on the suppression of that municipality by the National Assembly.

The Radical Press took the general exception to the "platform" of M. DE REMUSAT that it was vague—full of reticences and double meanings, as one paper put it. It said nothing about raising the state of siege under which Paris is still governed, to the great detriment of trade and mercantile credit; it was equally silent on the question of amnesty to political offenders, a matter which the Parisian masses have very much at heart. Worst offense of all, it tacitly assumed that the Republic could fitly be organized without the dissolution of the present Assembly. M. BARODET left no room for any such objections. As one who had "fought in the ranks" of the fierce Democracy of Lyons, and whose chief claim on the suffrages of Paris was the fact of his "martyrdom" in the cause of "municipal liberties," the ex-Mayor could of course be trusted to have but one opinion in regard to the freedom and amnesty which were denied to Paris. The mandate from Lyons to Paris, as he styled his candidature, bore the following as its chief demands:

> 1. The immediate dissolution of the Assembly at Versailles; 2. The absolute integrity of universal suffrage; and 3. The convocation, without delay, of a single Assembly, which can alone vote the amnesty and the raising of the state of siege.

M. BARODET also took care to remind his Radical supporters that the present contest was but a prelude to the general elections, and that it rested with the electors of the Seine "to give the rallying word by a vote which signifies Dissolution and Republic."

It is remarkable that up to about ten days before the election there was no talk about a Conservative, i. e., Monarchist, candidate for Paris. Yet, according to the returns furnished by cable, Baron STOFFEL, who seems to have been started at the last moment to slide in between two hostile Republican candidates, polled 127,000 out of the 318,000 votes cast, while M. DE REMUSAT, backed by all the influence of M. THIERS, only polled 25,000 votes. It is, of course, always dangerous to judge of the temper of France from that of Paris; but it seems pretty clear that the Government has accepted the election of M. BARODET by an overwhelming majority, as a very plain intimation that a more decidedly Republican policy is necessary for its safety. To the credit of the Radical Press, it must be stated that it was perfectly unanimous in disclaiming any direct censure on M. THIERS being presupposed by an opposition to his favorite candidate. The most uncompromising of these papers believed it necessary to elect the ex-Mayor of Lyons, so that the Cabinet might see that while it was going to the Right, France was going to the Left, and so that, in the twofold interest of the Executive power and of the country, the deplorable misunderstanding of the drift of public opinion should cease.

Eight French departments elected representatives to the Assembly on Sunday. The result has been the election of three Radicals, four moderate Republicans, and one Legitimist. Four more are to fill vacancies—two of them in Lyons—on May 11. The probability is that the Radicals will carry all these seats. The Assembly meets again on May 19, and, though the reinforcements sent by the country into the ranks of the Extreme Left will still leave that party in a very decided numerical minority, the results of the elections will give new emphasis to the demand for a dissolution, and will throw a very heavy onus of proof on the Monarchists who claim to represent the majority of Frenchmen. The point has, in fact, been reached where the last strife between the foes of the Republic and its friends must be fought. The Assembly has the power of allowing that struggle to terminate peacefully by submitting to the country the decision of the real questions of the hour. It has also the power of virtually initiating civil war by falling back upon the sovereign powers with which it was intrusted for a specific purpose, now discharged, and persisting in devoting them to a purpose of which the majority of Frenchmen disapprove.

People Who Need Guardians.

The circumstances attending the robbery and failure of the Atlantic National Bank, go far toward explaining the absurd dependence of many people on the protection of the Government. Those who can be betrayed into carelessness so gross as that of the officers and patrons of this bank, are not much to blame for crying for some superior set of beings to watch over their interests. They need it as much as children, and more than most women. But, it is precisely the universal tendency to such carelessness that makes it impossible for the Government to become the financial guardian of the people. The task is an impracticable one. The stream does not rise higher than its source, and the officers of the Government, picked by a very crude method from the body of the people, cannot be expected to have more than the average watchfulness or fidelity. Moreover, if the officers of the Government were by some chance to turn out keener and more constant for others than most persons are for themselves, they could accomplish nothing. A body of persons as resolutely bent, as were those doing business with the Atlantic National Bank, on throwing their money away with their eyes shut, would find some way of doing it. Even the perfection of paternal government pictured by LABOULAYE in the Kingdom of the Flycatchers, where two gensdarmes watched each man, woman, and child, would not suffice to suppress the monomania which these gentlemen seem to have had for getting their money beyond their own control.

This case shows, not the advantage but the necessity of free banking. It is preposterous to ask the Government to erect a cumbersome series of regulations, the effect of which can never be wholly foreseen, but which are much more likely to hurt than to help, for the purpose of protecting depositors who will not protect themselves. A bank is presumably and in theory a representative institution. The shareholders represent the depositors, who are supposed to look to them and their agents for satisfactory evidence of soundness in the bank. The directors represent the shareholders, and the President is chosen to maintain a constant supervision over the affairs of the bank in the name, by the authority, and with the assistance and guidance of the directors. Such a system ought in the main to work well. It does so where the motive power—the good sense and vigilance of those whose money is involved—is active. When depositors are careful and inquisitive, the directors will be constant and active, and, above all, the President will be faithful. But when all parties agree in sitting idly by, while a rogue takes, one after another, securities amounting to more than the entire capital of the bank, and throws them on the gaming-table of Wall-street, what but ruin can be the result? Is it conceivable that any regulation of the Government would prevent the catastrophe? Does not the interference of the Government only give rise to a fancied security that confirms the natural dull indifference? In principle there is no more reason why the Government should indicate to a citizen the strength or weakness of a bank in which he proposes to leave his money, than there is that it should tell him whether to put his watch under his pillow or his wallet between the mattresses on going to bed at night. In practice this principle is fully sustained. When the Government has protected the bill-holders—who cannot in the nature of the case efficiently protect themselves—it has done all it can properly or safely try to do.

The District of Columbia.

The full statement of the condition of affairs in the District of Columbia contained in the message of Gov. COOKE to the District Legislature, to be found in our columns this morning, is of general interest. The present Government of the District being considered by many to be still an experiment, and the action of the local authorities having been so fiercely assailed in some quarters, an official exposition of the conduct of affairs from one so high in the public confidence as Gov. COOKE is valuable as a refutation of the reckless abuse which has been heaped upon the District authorities for alleged extravagance and corruption. That these charges have been based mainly upon ignorance and malice is evident from the very complete exhibit which Gov. COOKE gives of the financial transactions of the District.

Several facts are given which will be considered conclusive on this point. It appears that the disbursements have never, in any case, exceeded the specific appropriation, and it seems difficult to imagine how, under such a rule, there could have been great squandering. That the finances of the District have been prudently managed is apparent from the fact that all the floating debt and unsettled claims against the late Government have been settled, amounting to $1,500,000, and it is not strange that the bonds of the District, formerly only worth eighty, are now firmly held at ninety-seven. The much-abused Board of Public Works has thus far audited claims to the amount of $9,770,921, of which $8,199,815 has been paid. This is undoubtedly a large sum, but the good effect of the expenditure is already felt. Property in Washington City has largely advanced in value as a consequence of the increased demand, which is shown by the fact that the transactions in real estate in 1872 exceeded those of 1870 by $5,000,000. That private improvements are keeping pace with those of the public authorities appears in 1,216 houses erected in 1872, adding $3,299,250 of assessed valuation to the tax lists.

Gov. COOKE refers with pardonable pride to the great improvements which have been made in the national capital by the Government of which he is the head. Washington, until lately one of the most unsightly and disagreeable cities in the Union, has been greatly changed for the better. That this change should be attended with vast expense was inevitable from the plan of the city; the wide streets and numerous public places required great outlay for their improvement and adornment. That Washington will ever be a trade centre of consequence is not probable, but that it will remain the political capital of the nation for some generations at least, is beyond dispute. Whoever, therefore, makes it less of a quagmire in Winter, and not quite so much of a dust-heap in Summer, is a benefactor to the whole nation. A visit to the city is attended now with less disgust and humiliation than it was some years ago; but if the energy of the present Government is continued, we may hope soon to be pained only by the Washington Monument and, perhaps, a few other relics of a barbarous and thriftless age.

Concerning Smith.

It is among the proud boasts of the Wisconsin person not only that his home is in the setting sun, but that he is chiefly descended from New-England progenitors. That in the city of Madison the New-England element is largely prevalent, has recently been proved by the incident hereinafter set forth, and which was proudly related in a late issue of a Madison journal.

Of course, among the citizens of Madison there is a proper proportion of Smiths, that numerous race being used to fill up the interstices of population, much in the same way as sand is sifted into the interstices of freshly-laid pavements. One of these Smiths, who was a tailor by trade, deserted the society of his private goose and abandoned his shears and needle, some time last Autumn. Now, in most cities, the withdrawing of one or many Smiths into strict privacy would in no wise attract public attention. It is, however, an attribute of the typical New-England person to suffer poignant anguish if he is unable to ascertain precisely why his neighbor retires from business, and precisely how he subsequently conducts himself. The Madisonian descendants of New-England sires experienced a terrible unrest when they noted the absence of the sartorial SMITH from his accustomed bench. They instantly took measures to satisfy their hereditary thirst for knowledge by visiting Mrs. SMITH and demanding of her where her husband had gone. Foiled in this enterprise by the refusal of Mrs. SMITH to give them any satisfaction, they applied to the postmaster, and learned that no letters for the missing SMITH had been called for since his absence had first been discovered. By carefully watching the house of Mrs. SMITH, the astute investigators noted that smoke issued from the chimney during the winter months, and at once determined that she was burning the dismembered pieces of her murdered husband in the family cooking-stove. One man, rather more fortunate than his fellows, found a tooth, while "poking around the ashes back of the house"—though it is not mentioned to what species of animal this tooth belonged. Driven to desperation by their inability to satisfy their curiosity with anything more substantial than smoke and a solitary but unclassified tooth, these enthusiastic searchers obtained a sheriff's posse, and demanded admittance to search Mrs. SMITH and her house for possible remnants of her husband. Again foiled by that intelligent woman, who declined to admit them without a warrant, they finally procured that instrument, and the Sheriff opened the house—"a large crowd," says the Madison Journal, "being present, anxious to obtain information." It is pleasant to relate that they received immediate satisfaction as to the whereabouts of Mr. SMITH. That much-sought-after person met his investigators upon his threshold with a particularly serviceable ax, and before he was handcuffed fully convinced them that he was thoroughly alive and objectionably active. It was subsequently ascertained that the man was insane, and that his heroic wife had devoted herself to the work of taking care of the lunatic and protecting him from the annoyance of curious visitors.

In reading this remarkable instance of the perseverance of the Madisonians in the pursuit of knowledge, it will be noticed that the disappearance of SMITH was a fair subject for a proper investigation at the hands of the proper authorities. There was not, however, the slightest reason why the private Madisonian should take upon himself the task of questioning Mrs. SMITH; of dogging her footsteps to the post-office; of watching the smoke from the chimney, and of "poking around the ashes back of the house." Such persistent meddling with the private affairs of the SMITHS can only be explained upon the hypothesis of the New-England descent of the meddlers. SMITH was, as we are assured, insane; but it is seldom that poetic justice has been more neatly executed than it appears to have been by the ax of this vigorous and appreciative lunatic.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Third-avenue Railway Company is about to make a most acceptable innovation in putting on eight cars for the exclusive use of smokers. Hereafter, we suppose, stale pipes and poisonous cigars will be banished from the platforms of the other cars, and they will so far be rendered fit for civilized human beings to ride in. And now, if the Third-avenue Company will take a further step in the same humane direction, and set apart a certain number of cars for the exclusive use of those barbarians whose sole idea of comfort is to make everybody else as uncomfortable as possible, the gentlemen who cross their legs, and render the passage-way impassable with a chevaux-de-frise of muddy boots, the persons with huge baskets or bundles which they tranquilly rest on one's knees, or calmly poke into one's eyes, the fat woman who sits partially on both her neighbors, and the æsthetic person who insists on looking out of the window, and takes up two or three seats to do it—if the Third-avenue Company will make separate provision for these nuisances, it will still more merit the thanks of the riding public. When it has done this, we may, perhaps, ask for a car or two for the exclusive use of drunken men and pickpockets, and when that Arcadian time arrives the civic street-car for cripples or people without nerves or senses may become almost tolerable.

By one of those amusing mistakes by which the druggist's clerk enlivens the monotony of business, a Chicago lady was recently supplied with poison instead of the innocuous medicine which she desired. As a consequence the lady died, and her husband, who is undoubtedly a prosaic person who cannot appreciate a joke, has sued the druggist for $25,000 damages. Probably he will recover a much smaller sum, both because the average juryman is incapable of giving a deserved verdict, and because the Chicago juryman will doubtless regard $25,000 as a sum altogether in excess of the current market-price of wives. The husband, however, has our best wishes for his success, and it is only to be regretted that the clerk who furnished the poison cannot be made to expiate his criminal stupidity by a few years in the penitentiary.

In these days of "confidence" operators it is pleasant to find an occasional case in which charity has not been "thrown away." A short time since, as some of our readers will remember, a young woman, who gave evidence of more than ordinary culture, was found by a raiding "police party" playing a piano in a low concert saloon at Newark, N. J., and taken, with the rest of the occupants, to the Police Court. In reply to the questions of the magistrate, she revealed a history of most painful character, the chief points of which were to the effect that she was the daughter of a gentleman who had formerly been a colonel in the British Army; that she had married a bank official, who had been reduced to penury from a condition of affluence, and after whom she had come to the United States. Too proud to inform her kinsmen at home of her actual condition, and being in immediate want of food for herself and two children, she accepted the position of pianist in the saloon where she had been discovered. The magistrate, very much to his credit, was so affected by the recital of her sufferings that he had her cared for at his own residence, pending the receipt of a letter from her brother, which lately arrived from Canada, whither she is shortly to go, in company with her little ones.

The Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, which owns, among other railroads, the Albany and Susquehanna, is about to introduce upon that road the plan of heating the cars with steam from the locomotive. This is the first company which has had the humanity and good sense to make this reform. When it is put in practice, passengers who travel by the Albany and Susquehanna Road will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are not in danger of roasting; and this fact ought to have a decided influence in increasing the passenger traffic of the company. When does Mr. Vanderbilt intend to abolish the car-stove? He must perceive that he would save money by so doing, and no one supposes that he prefers to burn his passengers to death when, instead of making money by the process, he is actually at a heavy cost for fuel and for stoves.

After what has been done by the Government of Quebec to induce French Canadians, who have left that Province during the past few years, to return from pleasant homes in the United States, it must be particularly discouraging to find that the "exodus of enfants du sol" is greater this season than at any period within ten years. They are coming over the border by the hundred, and the emigration promises to continue thus briskly until the end of the Summer. Several months ago, the Quebec Government appointed the Abbé CHARTIER chief of a commission to come to this country and labor earnestly with the French Canadians for the purpose of convincing them that it would be greatly to their advantage to sell out and go back to their former dwelling-places. At his foolish work some $7,799, in gold, were spent, only $150 of which, however, went to pay transportation for the converts—the fares and hotel expenses, probably, of one "homesick" family. Instead, therefore, of stopping the emigration, the experiment of the Government has had the opposite effect.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Fechter, after too long an absence from the Metropolitan boards, reappeared last night at the Grand Opera-house, playing for the first time here the part of the Count of Monte Cristo. The large theatre was crowded to excess, and Mr. Fechter was greeted on his entrance with vociferous cheers. A warmer personal feeling seemed to be expressed for the artist than we have observed before, and the play, which Mr. Daly has caused to be beautifully placed on the stage, was listened to with deep attention and sympathetic applause. The version of Dumas' novel, as rendered, is the work of Mr. Fechter, and doubtless this fact had its share in eliciting manifestations of interest so unusual as to suggest special analysis and explanation. Both drama and artist have an important share in the result attained. We will therefore deal first with his play and then with Mr. Fechter.

Grace and culture are much to the few but little to the many, and so, with the many, Crichton goes down before Aladdin. What are the dazzling eloquence, the exquisite address, the nobly-gained power of the scholar compared with the magic Lamp and Ring? Only spirits of the finer sort really see the absurdity of a comparison over which the gods might well laugh themselves to tears, and, such spirits being few, we have the key to a fascination rife the world over and as perennial as universal. The sudden acquisition of vast wealth, especially as succeeding extreme poverty, is a spectacle the charm of which never seems to pall, and its representation even in fiction appears scarcely less delightful than the reality. Robinson Crusoe himself is hardly more charming than the golden heroes of romance who, having just tasted the bitterness of weakness and poverty, revel in the sequel in boundless wealth and power. To the elect and superlative few this rosy elation over bags of money is contemptible enough, and so, for the admiration of the better sort among the world's great audience, the golden hero must go lacking; he will commonly, however, be consoled by making up in numbers what he lacks in quality. To conquer both he must be a marvel indeed; and this is what Dumas has made of his Edmond Dantes; and what with his literary lights, which are few, and his artistic lights, which are many, Mr. Fechter has made of his dramatic version.

The Count of Monte Cristo is, then, a union of Crichton and Aladdin. He has the dialectics of the one, and the purse of the other. He is supremely clever, supremely resolute, and supremely rich. He is a miracle of courtly address and manly accomplishments, and he has the wherewithal to deck them forth with the most sumptuous and tasteful surroundings. To add to the wonder of the thing, we are given to know that his striking social tact and finesse were gained by inculcation, not attrition. What the Abbé Faria did not teach him, the Count evolved, as Claude Melnotte did his princely polish, from his own inner consciousness. But the Count appeals still further to our passions and sympathies. Not only does he spring from beggary to affluence, but, by adding to riches marvelous culture and subtlety, he acquires the while that tremendous power for avenging past wrongs that mankind so admire, even when its exercise makes them shudder. False friends, cruel rival, perfidious mistress, all come under the swoop of that baleful Nemesis which is resistless as the lightning, as implacable as destiny. This sombre, impassive figure, coming, as it were, from the grave to fulfill his terrible mission, set about with the gold and gems and ermine of luxury, yet holding aloft a sword of vengeance which we know must pitilessly and destructively fall—this compound of Sybarite and destroying angel has hardly a rival in literature for a certain kind of gloomy and portentous interest. That interest is heightened by its illustration of poetic justice. The avalanche of misfortune that is made to overwhelm the enemies of the poor young sailor lad, Edmond Dantes, we feel is righteously set in motion by the all-powerful Monte Cristo. In the partial exemption of Mercedes, too, the sense of judicial retribution is not violated; for feminine perfidy, as surely as virtue, is its own reward. The consolatory and common-place reflection that she who is capable of perfidy is not worth having counts for little; for, whether unluckily or not, we do not love people solely for their virtues. But those who study the world and the human heart know full well that nine times out of ten in these cases, there is a Nemesis as inexorable as the Monster to Frankenstein, or as Monte Cristo himself to Danglars. The desolater, in the end, is pretty surely made desolate, and so even with the marked palliation of her error, it was with poor Mercedes.

That Mr. Fechter is an uneven actor seems to us undeniable, but for that very reason he is probably more effective. A mountain in the precise shape of an Egyptian pyramid would have certain positive claims to symmetry; but it as certainly would not be an attractive or poetical looking object. The singular physical grace so conspicuous in his other parts is not wanting in Mr. Fechter's Monte Cristo. Elegance of bearing is of nearly all qualities the rarest on our stage, although what is meant for it is sufficiently common. This artist has likewise the ability, nearly as rare, to wear modern evening dress, and look like a gentleman, and not like a "gentleman's gentleman." Beyond these points of external but pregnant significance, Mr. Fechter conveys in Monte Cristo some clearly-cut and strongly suggestive artistic ideas. The contrast between the buoyant, laughing young sailor, and the almost supernatural figure of Monte Cristo twenty years after, is as finely conceived as executed; and the constant suggestion, in the manner of the latter, of undying memory, and unmovable resolution, veiled by the veneer of mingled high breeding and sinister mystification, is managed with much adroitness. The scene with Faria is too brief and incoherent to convey the full relation between the two men, but, as everybody may be presumed to be familiar with the novel, this is of less consequence. Still further, Mr. Fechter is as happy in imparting by looks and single phrases what might otherwise take long passages to convey, that elaborate descriptions are thus with him rendered superfluous. In the grand situations of his drama, Mr. Fechter is always [illegible]; he is sometimes unimpressive, although always consistent and picturesque. His version of Monte Cristo, while preserving with skill the salient climaxes of the romance, strikes us as heavier than it need to have been; as wanting the relief, that is to say, which there is material in the story easily to supply. Mr. Fechter, however, probably thought it wise to concentrate interest on his principal figure, and this he has very neatly done. He has not, however, omitted to give prominence to some of the other characters. Noirtier, for example, exceedingly well acted by Mr. Charles Wheatleigh, is a capital study, and as much is made of Villefort—rendered with pathos and appreciation by Mr. Ogden—as could with the scope allowed have been expected. Mercedes, who is endowed with more force than delicacy by Miss Lizzie Price, is otherwise a disappointment, and the feminine element is in general rather slightingly handled. Mr. Studley does his best to give points and color to Danglars, and the Caderousse of Mr. Charles Leclercq also merits favorable mention.

"Monte Cristo" is, of course, a melodrama, and is only saved by a certain grandeur in its leading conceptions from being a melodrama of a rather low type. But Mr. Fechter, with his peculiar romantic style, his dash, his chivalric bearing, and his occasional bursts of [illegible] and electric feeling, lifts up to a [illegible] these leading conceptions, and turns what might otherwise seem prosaic, if not mawkish, into that which is almost sublime. The performance is assuredly not equal as a work of art to his Ruy Blas—one of the most consummate pieces of acting in its way ever witnessed—but, like that, it contains flashes of histrionic inspiration, sudden flamings up, so to speak, of passionate identification, which come as near to genius as anything now to be seen on our stage, and which no one of taste or imagination can go away and easily forget.

The stage sets last night were honorable to the theatre; the difficult business of the Chateau d'If was excellently devised, and worked without a flaw, and all of the scenes have been carefully and ably painted. The costumes, too, and minor accessories showed taste and liberality. We are glad to congratulate Mr. Fechter and the management on a substantial success in "Monte Cristo," which will probably draw a great deal of money and carry the season at the Grand Opera-house to a triumphant close.

PANTOMIME AND "LULU" AT NIBLO'S.

Niblo's was crowded last evening by an immense audience gathered to enjoy the "ballet spectacle pantomime" of "Azrael," and the "sensational" performance of the female gymnast, Lulu. The opening scenes of the piece are full of demon-business; the plot, unhappily, is not so apparent as one could wish, the prologue being turned to slight purpose, save as a means of introduction for the harlequinade. Misses Lulu Prior, Laura Joyce, and Jennie Arnott were welcomed as old favorites, and were loaded with floral tributes. The demon ballet, led by Mme. Katti Lanner, was effective and interesting, though the dresses were of a kind offending against good taste. The pantomime scenes were very good, the troubles and tribulations of Clown (Mr. Maffitt) and Pantaloon (Mr. Bartholomew) being decidedly remarkable. A novel railroad effect afforded much amusement, and all of the scenery was up to the high standard of the theatre. The sensation of the night, however, was the performance of Lulu, the female gymnast, who was highly successful in astonishing the spectators. Lulu is a splendid acrobatic artist, and performs some remarkably daring feats upon her aerial trapeze and platform, but the great feat, that of bounding suddenly into the air from the stage to the platform, and her triple somersault, from the bar to the net, fairly electrified the audience. Notwithstanding the fact that some powerful machinery is evidently used to give the performer an impetus, the bound is really wonderful by its originality and the daring of its execution. As a novelty, Lulu's accomplishments will doubtless attract large assemblages to Niblo's for some time. The pantomime proper, on that account, might be pruned without detriment to the excellence of the entertainment.

WOOD'S THEATRE.

Mr. Dominick Murray, whose engagement at this establishment has proved highly successful, appeared last evening in Mr. Osborne's sensational drama of "Blood Money," in which the darker phases of Irish character are very strongly delineated. Mr. Murray enacted Terence Finegan, a well-to-do farmer, and the hero of the piece; and was well supported by Mr. T. W. Keene as Squire Flanagan, by Mr. Wallace as Daniel McQuod, a rascally attorney and informer, and by Mr. Sheldon as Barney McGuire, a farm-servant, good-natured and blundering, as all Irish servants are supposed to be. The plot is a somewhat complicated one, but is well worked out, and the last act winds up with a very effective scaffold-scene. The piece will be repeated every evening during the week, and at the matinées Miss Jennie Morton will appear in the "Female Detective," in which she assumes five different characters. The management announces an engagement with Hernandez Foster, commencing on Monday next.

ORPHEON SPRING-TIDE FESTIVAL.

The eighth Spring-tide Festival of the Orpheon Choral Societies was celebrated last evening at the Academy of Music, and its celebration was attended by a large audience. The programme consisted of solos, glees, choruses, and instrumental music, and it was interpreted to the gratification of all present. Signora Eugena Bellini Marotti sang with decided effect the cavatina "Ah! fors' è lui" from "La Traviata," and an air from "Il Ballo." The other singers were Mr. Leigh Cole and Mr. Harvey Claremont. Mr. Jerome Hopkins played one of his own compositions, and a full orchestra of members of the Philharmonic Society, conducted by Mr. Antoine Reiff, performed several pleasing selections. The vocalists were accompanied on the piano by Mr. J. B. Poznanski. The chorus of the society was strengthened by the boy choruses of St. Albans, the Church of the Heavenly Rest, and Holy Apostles, under the direction of Mr. Charles Fischer. There was much applause.

From the West Coast of Africa.

By a recent arrival at Liverpool from Cape Coast, we hear of news of an alarming nature, that place being in a state of great excitement in consequence of an expected invasion by the Ashantees, who were reported as only twenty-four hours' march distant. The Fantees had been everywhere beaten. The Ashantees number between 70,000 and 80,000 men, and it was supposed to be their intention to take Elmina from the English. They were marching in four divisions, the King himself being at the head of the principal one. The British navy stationed in those waters were, however, watching the interests of Her Majesty's subjects.

Civil Rights in Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—John F. Payne and wife, colored, have complained of Aaron Richardson, proprietor of the Opera-house, for ejecting them from that place of amusement a few evenings since, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Richardson. This is the first case under the Civil Rights bill passed by the present Legislature.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Opening of the Third Legislative Assembly—Message of Gov. Cooke—Finances—Improvements—Education.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The following is the message of Gov. Cooke, transmitted to the District Legislature to-day:

To the Council and House of Delegates of the Legislative Assembly:

The organization of the Third Legislative Assembly of the District affords occasion for recognition and acknowledgment of the kind Providence which has vouchsafed to the Government and people of the District a year of unprecedented prosperity and progress. Much has been accomplished during this period in perfecting and systematizing the operations of the new Government in the work of internal improvements, and in securing the generous co-operation of Congress in the efforts of the people of the District in urging these improvements to completion. You are about to enter upon the third regular session of your legislative labors, and you do so under circumstances full of encouragement. Much has been accomplished by your predecessors, and the pathway of the future is clear in the light of the past and the present.

FINANCES.

In my last annual communication to your body, your attention was called to the importance of keeping appropriations within the estimated revenues. In accordance with this suggestion, appropriations for the current year were based upon careful estimates of necessary expenditures and of revenues furnished by the proper officers, and revised by the Legislature. At the time, however, when these estimates were made, the assessments were not complete, and when completed they fell short of the approximate estimates. No margin was made for the discount allowed for the prompt payment of taxes, and for the abatements and exemptions of church and school property under acts of Congress and of the Legislature. These abatements and exemptions amount to $133,600, leaving the net amount of taxes and licenses for the current year about $1,500,000. Of this amount $886,597 have been collected, leaving a balance due on account of taxes of the current year of $449,000, besides arrearages of the year previous, estimated at $50,000, and of former levies of the old corporations $120,000, making the aggregate amount of $619,000 of taxes due the District and the old corporations. In this connection the fact should not be overlooked that the new government has been carrying the expenses of six months' administration, during which time no taxes were collected or levied, except in the City of Georgetown. The late corporations of Washington, and the Levy Court of the county failed to make the assessments and levy, and the first Legislature provided that the assessments should be prospective and not retroactive, thus leaving six months, from January to July, 1871, uncovered. In your action upon the estimates of expenditures, the rate of taxation necessary to meet the same should be carefully considered. Your legislation of last year was the first attempt to systematize and to bring into proper relations the revenues and expenditures of the District. The accuracy of your estimates is very gratifying, although for reasons already given they were only approximately correct. Nevertheless, it furnishes a basis upon which, in the future, you can legislate with almost absolute exactness. In some instances the amounts appropriated, being based upon estimated revenues, were in excess of the actual revenues, and in others the expenditures required will exceed the appropriations. These deficiencies, amounting in the aggregate to $181,000, are mainly attributable to the causes referred to. In no case should expenditures exceed revenues, and deficiency appropriations to cover excesses of expenditure can be justified only by rare and exceptional necessities. Under the former governments of the District one of the chief embarrassments in meeting promptly the current expenses was the delay in the current payment of taxes, which did not keep pace with expenditures, but were largely withheld until the close of the year, and were also largely delinquent even beyond that period. The law enacted at the last session of the Legislature, allowing a rebate of one per cent. a month upon taxes paid, was designed to correct this evil. It has partially accomplished the object, the taxes having been paid somewhat more promptly than before. Yet it will not be difficult to devise a scale of abatements and penalties which will greatly increase the efficiency of the existing law and entirely correct the evil it was designed to remedy. The unpaid taxes of the current year are sufficient to meet the expenses for the balance of the year, with the exception of the deficiencies above noted. In this connection it is earnestly recommended that provision be made for the enforcement of the payment of all taxes in arrears on and after June 30, 1873, including the unpaid portion of the levies of 1871, 1872, and 1873, and of the levies by the late corporations of Washington, Georgetown, and Levy Court, still remaining unpaid. The system of collecting such arrears, which the District Government has inherited from its predecessors, is cumbrous, expensive, and defective. In fact, the receipts from sales for delinquent taxes have yielded but little more than enough revenue to pay the expenses of sale and collection. I recommend that in lieu of the annual public sales now made, the Collector of Taxes be authorized by law to issue interest-bearing tax lien certificates against the property of delinquents after one month's notice to that effect. This will result in placing the entire uncollected tax levy into the treasury at the expiration of each fiscal year.

The report of the Controller will furnish you with a detailed statement of all the receipts and expenditures of the District Government from its organization to Jan. 1, 1873, together with estimates of the same carried forward from that date to the end of the current fiscal year. In no case have the disbursements exceeded the appropriations for any specific object, while in many instances the disbursements for the year will not equal the amounts appropriated. From the Controller's report it will also be seen that the cash receipts of the District of Columbia on its own account and on that of the late corporations amounted to $10,036,809 78. Of this sum, $1,808,806 13 was received on account of the late corporations, $5,426,000 on account of District bonds and loans, $885,748 33 on account of trust funds and special accounts, and $1,921,255 39 on account of taxes. This statement covers all receipts of the District Government from the date of its organization, June 1, 1871, to Dec. 31, 1872, inclusive, a period of nineteen months. The expenditures during the same period, pursuant to legislative authority, amount to $9,944,849 71. Of this sum there was expended on account of the late corporations, $1,350,070 39; on account of appropriations from proceeds of loans and bonds, $5,401,568 99; for returns of trust funds deposited with the District, $624,268 38, and for expenses of the administration of the Government, including the various departments, and interest on the funded debt, $1,966,820 95, leaving in the Treasury of the District, Jan. 1, 1873, $93,960 07. The estimates of expenditures for the ensuing year will be transmitted by the Controller, as they have been received by him from the proper officers. I hope that these estimates will be rigidly scrutinized, feeling assured that many of them can be materially reduced. It is quite certain, also, that considerable reduction can be made in the clerical force and expenses of the executive offices and other departments, the labor of conducting the Government being much less than it was during the process of its organization and establishment. I again earnestly call attention to the importance of keeping expenditures and appropriations therefor within the limits of the well-ascertained revenues of the District.

SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS.

The operations of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, a full report of which is herewith submitted, have been highly satisfactory. Nearly all the floating debt and unsettled claims of the late corporations of Washington, Georgetown, and the Levy Court have been paid off. Some idea may be formed of the labor devolved upon the commission when it is stated that about 650 claims have been adjusted, amounting in the aggregate to more than $1,500,000. The beneficial results of these payments and of the purchases of District securities by the board are already being experienced. Bonds of the late Corporation of Washington, which, before the creation of the District Government, were selling at less than eighty cents on the dollar, are now firmly held at ninety-seven cents. The funded debt of the District cannot, under the restrictions of the act of Congress, exceed $10,000,000. It is now $9,016,891, and is gradually being reduced by the purchases of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, thus rendering what remains of outstanding indebtedness more desirable to investors. An appropriation of $250,000 dollars is asked for by the commissioners for the purpose of reducing by such purchases the amount of the principal of the debt during the ensuing year, and I recommend that the appropriation be made.

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The extent and details of the vast improvements inaugurated, and in great part conducted to successful completion, by the Board of Public Works, are specifically set forth in the report of the board to the President of the United States, made in November last, a copy of which is herewith transmitted. The liberal appropriations by Congress at its last session are gratifying evidences that the public spirit of our people in voluntarily undertaking the grand work of embellishing and improving the nation's capital meets its approval and will receive its future aid. The amounts thus appropriated largely exceed all made from this source during the past seventy years, and proclaim the fact that the whole country is determined to make the metropolis worthy to be the seat of Government. Detailed statements from the treasurer, engineer, auditor, and assessor of the board, herewith transmitted, furnish a summary of its transactions from its organization to the present time, from which it appears that the total amount of accounts is $9,770,921 55; amount of cash payments, $8,199,315 35; leaving outstanding indebtedness $1,570,806 20; from which should be deducted amounts advanced on account of water fund, market-houses, pumps, &c., which are to be reimbursed by the District, aggregating $121,065 34; leaving actual liabilities $1,449,740 86. The material on hand equals in value the percentage retained on contracts, and, therefore, this item has not been added to the liabilities in the above statement, as the engineer's report establishes this fact. The report of the engineer, herewith submitted, shows the cost of completing the contracts outstanding on all work in course of completion to be $474,204 92. To meet this, the report of the assessor, herewith transmitted, shows that there will be realized from assessments on private property, on work already done, $1,927,549 11; from balance due on account of $4,000,000 appropriation, $252,000; total, $2,179,549 11. The report also shows that there is an appropriation available after July 1, 1873, made by the United States Government of $612,000 to meet its proportion of work in progress and to be commenced, from which, with the amount due from the District, additional assessments will accrue to the amount of $300,000. Owing to the extent of the improvements now in progress, the amount of special assessments against private property for such improvements will be large. It will afford relief to the tax-payers if the time for the payment of these assessments can be extended over a period of years and made payable in instalments. Under existing law, these assessments cannot be made until the completion of the improvements upon which they are to be based. Hence a large portion of the resources of the board are for the time unavailable. To remedy this, and thus relieve its creditors as well as the tax-payers, it is suggested that the issue of coupon certificates of indebtedness, bearing a fair rate of interest, shall be authorized, and that the assessment certificates against private property be hypothecated as collateral security for their redemption with the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, who shall collect such assessment certificates, and apply the proceeds to redemption of such certificates of redemption, retiring annually such proportion as you may authorize.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Our public schools have rapidly advanced in efficiency and in the extent and character of their accommodations. In excellence of discipline and thoroughness of instruction their superiority is recognized, and many of the best citizens and residents of the District now gladly educate their children in these schools. They are attracting attention, and receiving favorable notice from distinguished visitors from other parts of the United States and from foreign countries. It has been, and, I trust, will continue to be, the especial desire and purpose of citizens and authorities alike of the District to make its public school system one of its prominent attractions. The expense necessarily incurred in carrying forward this great work of popular education has thus far been met by the people of the District, the General Government not having rendered aid, as in the case of other Territories and many of the States. Many spacious and commodious school buildings, elegant in architecture, and furnished with every modern comfort and convenience, have been erected; but others will be needed to keep pace with the growth of population. Upon the inauguration of the new District Government there were outstanding contracts for school buildings in Washington, amounting to $215,948 20, including the proportion due under the act of Congress to colored schools. The total amount expended by the District Government for school purposes up to Jan. 1, 1873, was $558,027 62. The tax realized for school purposes to the same date is $448,447 56. The expenditures for current school purposes for the coming year will be over $100,000 less than during either of the past two years, owing to the fact that the contracts for new school buildings referred to have been completed and paid for, with the single exception of the school building in Georgetown for which the tax was levied last year. The estimate for school purposes for the ensuing year are $126,456 less than they were last year.

COLORED SCHOOLS.

The colored schools, under the management of a board of colored trustees, have also attained a high standard of discipline and instruction, in both of which they will compare favorably with the public schools of this and other cities. With few exceptions the teachers employed in them are colored. The unqualified success of these schools at the capital of the nation cannot fail to exert a beneficial influence upon public opinion throughout the country. The capacity of the race, not only to be educated, but to manage and control a system of education, has been here demonstrated beyond a doubt. This fact dissipates many false theories, and will encourage and stimulate the efforts of millions of our newly enfranchised citizens in their efforts to rise above the ignorance of their late servitude, and to qualify themselves by education for the responsibilities of their new position.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

I transmit herewith the report of the Harbor Commissioners appointed by an act of the late Congress. The survey of the channel, and of the overflowed and partially overflowed grounds adjacent thereto, is very thorough and complete, and the plan of improvement recommended by the commission will add very greatly to the commercial facilities of the harbor, and incidentally to the health of the city and District.

SALE OF THE CITY HALL, AND PROVISION FOR A NEW DISTRICT BUILDING.

Upon memorial made by the Governor and Board of Public Works to Congress, an appropriation was made by the act of March, 1873, of not exceeding $75,000, for the purchase by the United States of the interest of the District in the present City Hall building in Washington, now used solely for Government purposes, upon condition that the purchase money should be applied by the District only for the erection of a suitable building for the District offices. By the same act of Congress the Governor and board were authorized, if they should deem it advisable, to secure for the location of the building, sufficient land on Pennsylvania and Louisiana avenues, between Seventh and Ninth streets. This land has been secured by arrangement with the Washington Market Company, and the duty will devolve upon the Legislative Assembly of making provision for the erection of a suitable building thereon. While this building should be constructed on economical principles, and at a cost within the means of the District, it should be a structure in every way creditable to the capital, even in comparison with the public buildings of the United States in Washington; and all the District offices, including the Police Court and Police Head-quarters, should be concentrated and provided for therein. The lot of land upon which the building is to be constructed is the most eligible site in Washington for that purpose.

* * * * * * *

Having thus presented as briefly as possible the more important subjects demanding your attention, I have only to express the hope that such wisdom may guide your deliberations as will insure a continuation of the marked prosperity throughout the District which has followed the change in its form of government. Public improvements have stimulated private enterprise, and where streets and avenues have been sewered and paved, splendid business blocks and elegant residences have arisen to adorn them.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE DISTRICT.

In scarcely any city in the Union have these developments been more rapid and magnificent than in Washington. The amounts paid for transfers of real estate in Washington during the year 1872, as shown by the books of the Recorder of Deeds, exceed those of the year 1870 in the sum of over $5,000,000. The same records show that the number of transfers for 1870 was $2,000 65, as against $2,833 in 1872, there being but slight percentage in the increase in the number of transfers, while the consideration paid for the same shows an aggregate advance of over one hundred per cent. upon the total price paid for such transfers. These are facts attested by the public records. They furnish their own comment. The number of buildings erected in Washington during the year 1872 was 1,216, and the value thereof was assessed at $3,209,250. This assessment does not cover their actual value. These facts, from official records, are cited to illustrate how promptly private enterprise and capital have seconded the well-directed expenditures and improvements of the public authorities. They also attest with an emphasis that cannot be successfully assailed the confidence and faith of the people of the District in the wisdom of these expenditures and in the integrity which has characterized their management.

H. D. COOKE.

The French Theatre Litigation.

In Supreme Court Chambers, yesterday, before Judge Barrett, a motion was made by Mr. Larroque, on behalf of Wm. Watts Sherman, to vacate the attachment against the latter's property issued a few days since, at the suit of Mr. Fechter, the actor. The attachment was granted on the ground that Mr. Sherman was a non-resident of this State, he having his residence in London, England. The motion to vacate is made on affidavits setting forth that Mr. Sherman is merely temporarily absent in England, and that his home, his servants, and permanent place of residence is in this State. The motion was offered on behalf of Mr. Fechter by D. M. Porter, Judge Barrett taking the papers and reserving his decision.

The State Line Steam-ship Company.

Owing to a mistake, all mention was omitted of the State Line Steam-ship Company in the article, "The Annual Exodus," in Friday's TIMES. This line—a new one—now runs its steamers from this port to Glasgow and the north of Ireland fortnightly; but it is expected that, early in July, the departures will be more numerous, and that vessels offering superior accommodation to passengers will be dispatched weekly. Its steamers are provided and fitted up with all modern improvements for the convenience and security of the passengers, and their wants are catered to in a manner equal to any line crossing the Atlantic. The Pennsylvania, of this line, a fine steamer, with suitable accommodations for passengers, will leave here on May 7. Her berths are nearly all engaged. The Georgia, another of the line, will follow on the 4th June. New boats will be added as rapidly as possible to meet the requirements of traffic.

FINE ARTS.

Mr. Sherwood's Collection—Mr. George Harvey's Paintings—American Works of Art.

We have already called attention to the choice and valuable collection of foreign and domestic works of art belonging to Mr. John H. Sherwood, which will be sold without reserve by Messrs. Leavitt & Co., at Clinton Hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings next. It is seldom, indeed, that a private collection in this country contains so few inferior paintings as does this. Among the 122 offered, there are none that do not possess a positive value as works of art, while many of them, as the Cabanel, Bouguereau, Coomans, Escosura, Gerome, Herbsthoffer, and Merle, are of the highest order of merit. Our own rapidly-rising school we have seen no better examples than "The Street Musicians," by J. G. Brown; "The Little Stranger," by J. S. Guy; "Christmas Morning," by William Morgan, a very charming work; "A Frosty Morning," by McEntee; "Adirondack Scenery," by James Hart, who is seen at his very best in this strong work; "Independence Hall," by E. L. Henry; "View in Ulster County," by George Innes; "The Column of St. Mark," by Gifford, and the two fine and brilliant works by J. Beaufain Irving, of which we can scarcely say enough in praise. It is probable that this sale will be the final one of the season, so far as private collections are concerned, and there will be a warm competition, we know, for many of the lots offered.

MR. GEORGE HARVEY'S COLLECTION.

Mr. Harvey, who is an old associate of the Academy of Design, and one of our best water-colorists, has resolved to dispose of his entire collection of works of art, both those executed by himself and those produced by other hands. They are at present on view at No. 845 Broadway, three doors from Union square. They comprise a large variety of scenes in Great Britain and this country, and are distinguished by careful and conscientious work and variety of effect. Of several of the specimens exhibited by Mr. Harvey in the Academy of Design complimentary mention has been made in THE TIMES. Besides Mr. Harvey's own works there are others by Richard Renigal, R. A.; McIntyre, George Stewart, and Richard Wilson, with a very old head of Shakespeare, curious and valuable on account of its antiquity, if from no other reason.

WORKS OF AMERICAN ARTISTS.

A large and valuable collection of works by some of our best American artists, painted expressly for this exhibition, are on view at the Somerville Gallery, in Fifth-avenue. To their special merits we shall refer in a future article.

THE EAST RIVER BRIDGE.

Action of the Directors—The Stock to be Consolidated.

An adjourned meeting of the Directors of the East River Bridge Company was held at the company's office, in Brooklyn, yesterday, Hon. Henry C. Murphy presiding, and Mr. J. O. Quintard acting as secretary. Twelve members of the board, including Mayor Powell, were present. The Executive Committee were directed to make arrangements for the purchase of a piece of land in James-street over which the bridge would pass. On motion of Mr. Demas Barnes, the charter was ordered to be printed. Mr. Schroeder reported that the Legislative Committee had discussed the subject of paying interest on the investments of private stockholders, but were unable to agree. The committee was dismissed from further consideration of the subject, and Judge McCue offered the following, as amendments to the charter of the company, which were adopted by a vote of 10 to 4:

> The stockholders in said company other than the cities of New-York and Brooklyn shall be entitled to receive interest upon all installments heretofore paid in by them on their subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, and also upon all installments which may hereafter be paid in on the same. Interest shall continue to be paid until such time as the bridge shall be certified by the Directors of said company to be completed and ready for travel, and such payments shall be made semi-annually out of the funds of said company in such manner as the Board of Directors shall arrange and determine.
> The directors of said company are hereby authorized and directed to consolidate the stock of said company, owned by others than the cities of New-York and Brooklyn, in equal proportions, so that the stock so held by private stockholders may be reduced to the sum of $25,000. Where any such private stockholder shall have paid in less than fifty per cent. of the amount subscribed by him, he shall, in order to entitle him to the benefit of this provision, first pay into the treasury of said company any installments due upon said stock, so as to make his aggregate payments equal to fifty per cent. of his said subscription, together with interest on such unpaid installments from the time when the same were called in, and thereafter full paid stock to the amount of fifty per cent. of his said subscription shall be issued to such stockholder.
> Where any private stockholder shall have paid in more than fifty per cent. upon the amount of stock held by him, such private stockholder shall be entitled, if he so elect, to have full paid stock issued to him to the extent of fifty per cent. of his said subscription, and the overplus of payments made by him, together with interest thereon, shall be repaid to such private stockholder out of the Treasury of said company.

These amendments to the charter were ordered to be printed and forwarded to Albany.

On motion of Mr. Hewitt, a further amendment was made by which the cities of New-York and Brooklyn could take the consolidated stock at par at any time within one year after the completion of the bridge. The effect of the action of the board will be virtually to turn over the stock and the enterprise to the city.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Civil Courts—Armory and Drill-Room Bills Cut Down.

The Board of Supervisors met at 4 P. M., yesterday, Mr. Vance in the chair.

A resolution was adopted directing that the Sixth Judicial District Court be held after the 1st of May at Nos. 389 and 391 Fourth-avenue.

A resolution to remove the Ninth District Civil Court and the Fifth District Police Court to the building in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street, between Third and Fourth avenues, and the Fourth District Civil Court to the building at the north-east corner of Second-avenue and First-street, was adopted.

A bill and communication were received from Aug. Schell, Grand Sachem of the Tammany Society, asking for the payment of rent from Aug. 1, 1872, to Feb. 15, 1873, of the portion of Tammany Hall rented by the City, the annual rental being $36,000 per annum, with bills for restoring the hall to its original state, the total amount of rent and repairs being $25,901 75. The paper was referred to a committee.

The Committee on Armories and Drill-rooms presented reports on various bills for work done on the Thirteenth-street and Centre Market armories. Those referring to Centre Market footed up to $59,829, which were cut down by the committee to $29,144. Among them were a bill of Nicholas Segur for carpenter work, amounting to $16,776, which was cut down to $9,289 13, and one of Mr. Weber for mason work, amounting to $20,067 45, which was cut down to $9,765. The bills for work done on the Thirteenth-street Armory were cut down in like proportion. The reports were laid over.

The bill of Stetson & Sons for meals and rooms furnished the jury in the Scannell case, amounting to $1,770, was ordered to be paid.

A resolution directing the Controller to cancel the lease of the southerly portion of Centre Market, so that it may be used for armories and drill-rooms, was laid over.

The Board then adjourned.

The Odd-Fellow Anniversary.

The fifty-fourth anniversary of American Odd-Fellowship was celebrated last evening at Apollo Hall. The platform was filled with prominent grand officers of the Order from this and other jurisdictions. Past Grand Sire John A. Kennedy presided, and Past Grand Sire Wm. Ellison, of Massachusetts, delivered the oration, in which was detailed a brief history of the Order and its progress, from a few members in Baltimore, until the membership now numbered nearly half a million, embraced in forty-one Grand Lodges, thirty-five Grand Encampments, and 5,490 subordinate working bodies. Past Grand Master Barnes sang an original anniversary song, which was followed by singing, solos on the harp and violin, recitations, &c., the whole winding up with a grand ball, which was kept up till nearly daylight. The arrangements were under the charge of District Deputy Grand Master Joseph Ash, with a large corps of assistants selected from officers of local lodges.

Death of a Centenarian.

A permit was granted by Dr. Nagle, Deputy Register of Records of the Health Department, yesterday, for the interment of Thomas Craig, who died at his residence, No. 134 Broome-street, from extreme old age. Craig was a native of Ireland, 102 years old, and had been in this City forty years. He leaves a widow and a number of children.

THE ENGLISH-WINSTON CASE.

The Legislative Committee empowered to investigate the cause of the arrest and detention of Stephen English for libel, at the instigation of F. S. Winston, met yesterday morning at the Metropolitan Hotel, Mr. Herrick presiding. Judge John K. Porter appeared for Mr. Winston, Mr. Sewell for the Mutual Life Insurance Company, O. T. Atwood for the committee, and Thomas Darlington for Stephen English.

Mr. Sewell resumed his testimony. In 1870, the investigation before George W. Miller was instigated by Mr. McCullogh. Mr. McCullogh attended the investigation, and acted as prosecuting counsel, examining witnesses, but was not empowered to act as examiner. Mr. McCullogh attempted to examine the books after the investigation was concluded, and was prevented by the officers of the company, as he had no legal right to interfere with the books. He then visited Boston and agitated the question, and the Boston policy-holders caused an investigation to be made, the result of which was in evidence before the committee in the shape of a report.

To Mr. Darlington—The Boston committee examined the books, papers, and officers of the company, after hearing all the charges made by McCullogh. The Seymour and North loan was made with the knowledge of the officers of the company. Mr. Winston had authority to make the loan.

Witness believed the Board of Trustees subsequently confirmed or approved of the action of Mr. Winston in making the loan for the benefit of the soldiers.

Lewis C. Lawton, assistant actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, testified that he held that position while Mr. Homans was actuary. The charter of the company required that at the death of a policy-holder the surplus and dividend should be applied to the policy. Witness cited the Hopkins post-mortem case, in which, on Jan. 11, the premium paid was $125, and on Feb. 1 a cash dividend was declared for the full year of $123, under the probable prospect that Hopkins would live through the year. Hopkins died on Feb. 14; consequently the dividend was not earned, although declared, and the company thought it unjust that ninety-nine per cent. dividend should be declared for a month. This extreme case resulted in an investigation, and the establishment of a new formula, whereby such dividends should be regulated with a more strict idea of equity and justice. Witness was constant in his attendance at the company's office, but Mr. Homans was often absent. The clerks often did outside work for Mr. Homans, while he was receiving pay as actuary of the Mutual Life.

Richard Patrick, one of the Trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company for twenty-five years, testified that he was a member of the Special Committee appointed to investigate the charges made against Mr. Homans. Mr. Homans had his friends in the board, and there was a disposition on the part of the majority to dismiss him from the office of actuary. His friends thought it hard to summarily dismiss him after so many years' service, and it was proposed to retain him as consulting actuary at an annual salary of about $7,000. Mr. Homans agreed to the plan, as it enabled him to do other business. Witness did not recollect the approval of the payment of $3,500 to George W. Miller for the purpose of aiding the passage of the Miller Life bill.

To Mr. Atwood—Witness had often thought it wrong for Mr. Winston to conceal any of his actions. Had witness been chief executive officer, he would have done things a little more openly.

To Judge Porter—Witness knew nothing wrong in substance, but only in matters of form. Witness had confidence in the administration of Mr. Winston as the President of the company.

Mr. Darlington—Do you approve of the issuing of a paid-up policy in June, 1866, to Fred. M. Winston, after the death of the policy-holder, for $12,000, in lieu of a policy for $5,000, which had been forfeited in November, 1864?

Witness—I should act in the case as I would in my private business, according to my best judgment; and, taking into consideration the case in question, that the deceased policy-holder had been a good servant to the company, I think the action of the Board of Trustees right.

Sheppard Homans, to a question of privilege, said that the printed report of the minutes of a committee charged to investigate the complaints made against him, had never been seen by him before Saturday last, nor the charges that had been made against him. Witness believed the charges, which he had never before seen, had been withdrawn, and never supposed they had been printed. The charges are malicious and false, and he did not wonder at the fact that a majority of the board had been opposed to him.

Mr. Homans then handed in a memorandum and a letter to the President of the company, which went to show that he disapproved of the division of the surplus in 1870.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After the recess the first witness called was Lucius Robinson, one of the trustees of the Mutual Life, who testified that in 1864 he was Controller of the State as well as trustee of the company. The Legislature, in 1863, made an appropriation of $200,000 for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers in the field. The Mutual Life, by witness' advice, consented to cash drafts on New-York, the money being in the State Treasury and the drafts being payable on demand, like a demand note of the United States. As many policy-holders of the company were in the army, every action of the State to assist sick and wounded soldiers was an indirect assistance to the company. This was really the fact of the so-called Seymour and North loan, which was no loan at all. The Winston policy (a paid-up policy for $12,000, in lieu of a forfeited policy for $5,000) was given under peculiar circumstances. Young Winston had risen from a subordinate position in the office to cashier, and had rendered the company great service. His policy had lapsed in consequence of the increased rates of domestic expenditure arising from the war, and was surrendered with the understanding that at a more favorable time the policy would be renewed. His death was sudden, and the Board of Trustees voted the paid-up policy as a return for his services. This plan of rewarding past services was perhaps injudicious, and it would have been better to have voted the money outright. The liberal policy of the company, in the case of surrenders and death following, had been one of the means of making the company so prominent as it is to-day.

To Mr. Darlington—Mr. F. S. Winston, the father, did not know of the action of the Board of Trustees until after it had been taken. Witness knew that the money advanced by the Mutual Life to the State agents was secured, and could be paid on demand, as the power was vested in the Governor by the act of 1863—no audit being even required. Witness did not know that F. M. Winston never paid a dollar on any of his policies, or that he had policies in other companies which he kept paid up. Witness remembered the investigation before George W. Miller, and understood that it was a general and sweeping inquiry, arising from a number of charges on all sorts of subjects; but did not know of anything being put in the way to prevent a thorough investigation of the matter by any properly authorized officer. Mr. McCullogh was not so qualified as witness believed.

Mr. McCullogh made a statement that, when preparing for the investigation before Superintendent Miller, he was prevented from examining the books. As a policy-holder he had a right to examine them. He only desired an honest investigation.

Richard A. McCurdy, Vice-President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, testified that he had held that office since 1865. The subject of alleged maladministration on the part of the officers of the company was often the subject of examinations. The last investigation was made in January last by four disinterested policy-holders. The report of that committee had been put in evidence, and completely relieved the officers of all suspicion of maladministration. The four policy-holders were not selected either by Mr. Winston, or through his connivance, and three were totally unknown personally to him. Witness said he made the movement which resulted in the board granting the paid-up policy in the case of Fred. M. Winston. Mr. Winston, the President, knew nothing about the proposed action, and was not present when the action was taken. It was done for the benefit of the orphan children of Fred. M. Winston, and in view of his past services. The assertion that the company paid large sums of money to an insane man, as agent, is incorrect. Mr. Littel was perfectly sane when appointed, and subsequently became suddenly insane. While under treatment, the business was carried on by Mr. Littel's brother and clerks; and the remuneration was paid on the business done, as in all other cases of agency. Witness never knew Mr. Winston, the President, to vote on proxies, and never voted himself but once on proxies. The libels in the Insurance Times were damaging to the company, and created a great amount of trouble among the agents, interfering with their getting business. The company was compelled to circulate a large number of documents to contradict the libels.

In reply to the committee, the witness thought Mr. English's reasons for attacking the company arose from the company cutting off the Insurance Times from the list of papers in which the company's advertisements were published. The witness detailed a breach of the peace which Stephen English committed in the office of the company, and his subsequent threats in consequence of witness asserting that he would have been turned out of the office.

The committee then adjourned until Thursday afternoon at Albany.

Sales of Furniture on the Installment System.

In the Marine Court, on application of Messrs. Browne & Rabe, attorneys for Daniel Kelly, Judge Shea yesterday issued orders of arrest against Addie Freeman and Charles Diamond. In the affidavits on which the order was issued, it appears that Mr. Kelly, a furniture dealer, who has been accustomed to sell household furniture on what is known as the installment system, sold to Addie Freeman, one of the defendants, on the same terms, furniture to the amount of $900, payment to be made at the rate of $75 down, and $10 per week after. Soon after getting possession of the property, it is claimed that both defendants conspired together to dispose of the property and cheat Mr. Kelly out of his money; that in pursuance of this conspiracy the defendant Diamond took and sold the property, and appropriated to himself and his co-defendant the proceeds.

The defendant Diamond has been arrested and committed to Ludlow-street Jail in default of $700 bail.

THE PATTENBURG RIOT.

The trials of the Pattenburg (N. J.) rioters began yesterday at Flemington, in the Hunterdon County Court of Oyer and Terminer, before Chief-Justice Beasley. O. P. Chamberlain appeared for the State, assisted by George A. Allen. Attorney-General Gilchrist will also appear for the prosecution at certain stages of the trial. Hon. John T. Bird, John M. Voorhis, R. S. Kuhl and T. J. Hoffman appeared for the defense. David College, one of the seven rioters, was placed at the bar, charged with murdering the negro Denis Powell.

Prosecuting-Attorney Chamberlain stated the case for the people, and the following witnesses were examined:

R. G. Ludlow, M. D., the first witness, stated that he assisted at the post-mortem examination of the negro Powell, who was killed on Mrs. Carter's farm, Pottenburg, on the night of Sept. 21, 1872; there was a pistol wound in his right side, and his head was broken; either wound was sufficient to produce death. It was possible that the deceased might have recovered had he been simply shot in the side, and had he not been hit on the head. In answer to the Court the witness stated he thought the wound in Powell's side would have resulted fatally, though not immediately.

John H. Kelley testified that he was the "walking boss." The three murdered negroes were working under his charge. Saw Powell lying dead in the field, at the right band of the railroad track as you came from Potterburg. Deceased was moved to a shanty and then buried. Witness then related the story of the fight, as already published at the time of the inquest.

Cross-examination—In the three negro gangs at work there were about fifty men. Knew deceased, Dennis Powell, by sight, but did not know his name until he recognized him at the inquest.

Redirect—When witness saw the negroes moving off from the shanties, they had clubs, kettles, carpet-bags, &c., with them. Gave them directions where to go.

By the Defense—Where did you tell the negroes to go? A.—I told them some of the Irishmen had gone to the farm. They went that way. Some of the negroes wanted to give battle to the Irishmen, and others wanted to clear out.

David W. Sticks testified: Knew the prisoner, David College, since September. He lived in Pattenburg. Saw him on the morning of the 22d of September, a little after 6 A. M., at his house, about which were, at the time, a number of men. The men, it appears, made College and Coyle get up and go with them. The men had clubs, pickaxes, and one of them had a gun. The rioters were in front of Coyle's and College's houses, about fifteen minutes. There were between fifty and 100 hundred men in the crowd. College's door was open when witness came out of his house. When College came out he was about ready to go somewhere. Witness said to him, "Are you going down to fight the negroes?" He replied, "I will have to go, or they will kill me;" witness told him he had better not go, that the crowd had left. He said he must. He went on in the direction the crowd had taken. Next saw him when he returned; that was after 7 o'clock. He was not gone more than an hour. Witness had no conversation with him then. He was with half a dozen men. Saw him at his house in the afternoon. He said he had gone with the laborers as far as a white house. Witness said to him, "You probably saw three negroes killed," and he said he did not see them; but on their way back he heard them say they had finished one. He said, "God knows, I did not want to go, but I was forced to it." He said he wanted to prove by me he was home and in bed that Saturday night.

Cross-examination—College had several boarders in his house at the time. One of these men named Andrew Quinn had a gun. Quinn seemed the leader of the gang. College was at work from the 22d, at the tunnel, to the time of his arrest by the Sheriff. College remarked to the witness that if he did not go with the rioters they would burn his building and cut out his heart.

William Buckley testified that he resided with Mrs. Carter on her farm; saw the company of rioters; when witness saw them they were coming out of the woods, and going toward the negro shanties on the farm; saw the colored men running and the white men after them; witness heard the report of a gun; they were then hallooing and shouting about the barn; saw David College, among the rioters. He was standing within twenty feet of the house. The crowd then went toward the corn-field, south. Chester Dilly and witness came up from the corn-field, and saw the dead body of a negro in the door-yard. Went into the house, and when came out again no one was around.

The examination of witnesses was here discontinued, and the Court adjourned to this morning at 10 o'clock.

Demand of the Crispins for Increased Wages.

At a mass-meeting of Crispins, held in the Tenth Ward Hotel on the 21st inst., it was determined that the "bench-men," or those employed on what is known in the trade as "bespoken work," should make a demand for an increased rate of wages, and in case of refusal, that a strike should be inaugurated. At the meeting three lodges—the English-speaking lodge, numbering 300 men, the German lodge, numbering 100 men, and the French lodge, numbering fifty men—were represented. A list of the shops in which it was proposed to ask for the increased rate was made out, and a committee of three from each of the lodges appointed to visit them and make the demand. It may be stated here that it is only the Crispins employed on the better quality of men's boots and shoes which are made to order that are interested in this strike; and as the number of shops giving out that class of work does not exceed forty, the general public will not be materially effected by the success or failure of the strikers. On Friday and Saturday of last week the committees visited the thirty-five shops on their list. Up to the present fifteen of the employers have returned a decided answer, and twenty are yet to be heard from. Of the fifteen, all but two—Messrs. McNaughton, of Exchange-place, and Ferguson, of Nassau-street—readily conceded the demands of the men. The standard of prices sought to be established by the bench-men has been paid for years in several of the shops that are rated in the first class. The new rates were to date from yesterday, and as Messrs. Ferguson and McNaughton refused to comply with the demand, the men in their shops yesterday went on strike. The former gentleman employed nine, and the latter forty-two men. The Crispins have heretofore had three rates of prices, and the object of the present movement is to do away with the third—that is, to rate the shops that are now rated in the third class in the second, and those in the second in the first, according to the amount of skill and time required to manufacture the different styles of goods. On all classes of boots and shoes, upon which these men work, the average increase will be about forty cents. The goods are all custom made and average in selling price from $13 to $20. Of the twenty shops yet to be heard from almost all, according to the committee, have admitted the justice of the demands made by the men, and promised to comply with them. At the two shops where the strike has been inaugurated the employers say they are not at all embarrassed, and will be able to procure non-society men sufficient to fill their orders. The strike of the benchmen and fitters cannot in any way affect the wholesale trade, nor indeed any branch of the shoe trade except work of a fine quality performed to order. The men claim that they are bound to make the present demand not only in justice to themselves, but to those of the employers who have all along been paying the rate at present demanded, while compelled to compete with men in the same neighborhood who paid for first-class work only the second rate. The men on "team" work are in entire sympathy with the strike, and are pledged not to do any custom work for the employers. Custom work can be easily detected by the form in which it is presented. At the Tenth Ward Hotel, last evening, a meeting of the various lodges interested in the strike was held. The visiting committees reported progress, and several speeches were made on the question in which the men are at present interested.

Serious Stabbing Affray.

Frederick Hessick and Peter Ritter, two shoemakers, quarreled about a trade dispute at their residence, No. 343 Third-street, yesterday evening, when Ritter drew a shoe-maker's knife and stabbed Hessick in the left side, inflicting a serious wound. Ritter was promptly arrested, and both parties were brought to the Eleventh Precinct Station-house, where Ritter was locked up. Hessick had his wound dressed by Police Surgeon Maclay, and was taken to his residence by some friends.

Escape of Convicts from Blackwell's Island.

Yesterday afternoon six convicts escaped from Blackwell's Island. An alarm was sent out, and at 5½ P. M. the police of the Fifth Precinct, Brooklyn, captured Stephen Deery, aged twenty-nine years; Daniel Smith, nineteen years; and John Holorah, twenty-six years, as they were about entering the ferry-house at Grand-street, Williamsburg, to cross to New-York. They were locked up in the Fifth Precinct Station-house.

BASE-BALL.

The Mutual's Maiden Game of the Season.

The announcement that the Mutual Club would open play on the Union Grounds yesterday, against the Chelseas, a strong amateur club of Williamsburg, attracted about 300 persons to the scene of operations. Of course all were prepared to witness a one-sided contest, but it is doubtful if very many anticipated seeing the amateurs defend their points against the professionals half so well as they did. Their weak point was at the bat, but one of their number, Metcalf, being able to hit Matthews pitching at all. All the others struck out during the first six innings, when Matthews pitched, and after this Martin pitched, and but two base hits were made off him. The first named pitcher never sent the ball in with better effect in his life, and if he only keeps this sort of thing up, the Mutual Club should make a good showing ere the season closes. In the absence of Hicks, the Mutual's incomparable catcher, who is sick, Higham essayed the position, and filled it very well indeed, as the score shows, with the exception of throwing to the bases. In this he needs practice. Considerable interest was taken by the lookers-on in Nelson's play at third base, a position he once filled in the Mutual Club to the satisfaction of all, but owing to the Chelseas inability to hit the pitching, he had only one foul fly ball to attend to, and did not get a chance to throw to first base during the entire game. Judging from the manner in which he threw over there just before the game began, and while the boys were indulging in a little practice, it is evident, however, that in this particular point of play a vast deal of improvement would not hurt him in the least.

On behalf of the Chelseas, Metcalf, Doscherne, Devere, and West are deserving of especial mention for really brilliant play.

The following is the score:

The Ocean National Bank.

The sale of assets of Ocean National Bank, under the direction of Theodore M. Davis, receiver, took place yesterday, as follows:

A Postmaster on Postmarks.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I wish to inform those postmasters at whom your editorial entitled "Postmarks" is aimed, that it is wholly unnecessary that their postmarks should be merely a blotch of ink, when a plain and distinct postmark can be produced with but little trouble.

They should keep their postmarking stamps perfectly clean, which can be done by washing them occasionally in lye, such as is used by printers to clean their type and rollers. If this cannot be got, benzole may be used instead. They should use ordinary printer's ink, cut with boiled linseed-oil; and, in order that the ink may dry without blurring, it can be mixed with a small quantity of turpentine and balsam capivi.

Inclosed I send you three impressions of my stamp, two of which were rubbed as soon as the impressions were made, notwithstanding which they are perfectly legible. Yours, truly,

ROBT. DENNISON, P. M.

WARREN, Penn., Friday, April 25, 1873.

[The impressions referred to are clean, distinct, and perfectly legible.

R. S. HOLT, Treasurer,
No. 57 Water-st., New-York.

DISEASES OF ALL KINDS ARE usually more prevalent during the Spring months than any other portion of the year. Therefore, every precaution should be adopted to keep the body in a healthy condition. Among the annoying disorders prevalent at the present time, which usually trouble persons of stout habit more than others, none is more common or more disagreeable than the sick headache. It is usually the result of some indiscretion in eating or drinking. Women, being more sedentary in their habits than men, are frequent sufferers of this malady. This pain and heaviness of the head is usually felt in the morning, on arising, and frequently continues during the day. As soon as the patient feels the fullness in the head and pain in the temples a dose of SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS should be taken, and in a short time the sufferer will feel as well as ever. This has been tried by thousands, and, instead of the sick headache coming on every week or ten days, they are not troubled with it once in three months.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills are composed of a number of roots, beside Podophyllin, or concentrated Mandrake, all of which tend to relax the secretions of the liver, and act more promptly than blue pills or mercury, and without leaving any dangerous effects.

They expel worms, mucus, bile, and all morbid matter from the system.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The only sale made at the Exchange yesterday, (Monday, April 28,) although a number were advertised, was as follows: One four-story high-stoop brown-stone-front house and lease of lot, No. 40 West Fourteenth-street, south side, between Fifth and Sixth avenues; lot 25 by 103.3; term of lease, one year from May 1, with renewal covenants, from Spingler estate; ground rent $300 per annum; sold to Jacob Rotschild for $27,500. The sale was effected by Muller, Wilkins & Co. The same firm also offered at public auction the plot of land, 81.9 by about 90, with building, situate on the north side of East Eighteenth-street, 129 feet east of Broadway, for which bids to the amount of $83,000 were received; a brick house and lot, known as No. 79 Jackson-street, south-west corner of Front-street, for which bids amounting to $3,700 were received; and four lots on the Boulevard, south-east corner of Eighty-second-street, for which no bids were made. The Supreme Court sale of five lots, with buildings, on Broadway, north-east corner of Twenty-first-street, now owned by Wm. M. Tweed, having been purchased by him at the Crane estate auction, was adjourned to May 14. A leasehold property known as No. 4 0 Cherry-street, was offered for sale by Wm. Abbott, and knocked down at $4,400, but not sold; and the following legal auctions proposed were adjourned, thus closing the day's business: Sale by Wm. Kennelly of house and lot on Livingston-street, north-east corner of Forsyth-street, adjourned to May 12, and sale by E. H. Ludlow & Co. of one lot on One Hundred and Eighty-second street, 129 feet east of the Kingsbridge road, adjourned to May 5. In the matter of the adjourned foreclosure sale of house and lot on Fifty-first-street, west of Fifth-avenue, Joseph McGuire auctioneer, nothing was done, the referee not putting in an appearance.

At private contract, Friedman & Lespinasse report having recently sold plot No. 22 of the Dyckman Estate for $40,000. The plot is located at Fort George, and situated on One Hundred and Ninety-sixth-street.

TO-DAY'S SALES.

For to-day the following auctions are announced, the sales proposed being among the most important of the week:

TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

GREAT CLOSING OUT TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY, Belonging to the
CHICAGO LAND COMPANY,
AT PUBLIC AUCTION,
ON WEDNESDAY,
THE 18TH DAY OF JUNE, 1873.

By the articles of the association of said company, it is provided that all the property in the hands of the trustees in the month of June, 1873, must be sold at auction for cash, to close the trust.

The realty is centrally located in the CITY OF CHICAGO, and is valued at $1,300,000, and composed largely of river and canal frontage, docked and ready for immediate use. Also, a large number of vacant lots in the immediate vicinity of the docks, all well adapted for business purposes.

The title to this property is unquestioned, having been held and owned by the association for twenty years.

The personal property consists of notes bearing seven per cent. interest, having from one to five years to run, and amounting to about $700,000. These notes were received for deferred payments on land bought from the company by the makers thereof, and their payment is secured by mortgage on the same. TERMS OF SALE CASH. The personal property will be ready for transfer and delivery immediately after the sale. Purchasers of realty will be required to make a deposit on the day of sale of ten per cent. on the amount of their purchases, the balance to be paid within thirty days, or as soon after the sale as deeds can be made out and delivered.

CHICAGO AND CANADA

SOUTHERN.

$5,000,000

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

COUPON AND REGISTERED. INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, APRIL AND OCTOBER.

THE CANADA SOUTHERN, or eastern end of this line, whose Bonds were so rapidly sold last Summer,

Is Now Finished,

and will be opened for business, in connection with the TOLEDO AND WABASH and other Western Roads, at a very early day. The CHICAGO AND CANADA SOUTHERN, or western end of this line, is now being rapidly built, and the Company expect it to be finished during the present year.

THIS GREAT TRUNK LINE, when completed through, will be of immense advantage to the shipping interests of the Great West, being Level, Straight and thirty-three miles Shorter than any other route. Having connections with all the lines running into Buffalo at the East and Chicago at the West, and under the management of some of the most experienced railroad operators of the country, its success is rendered a certainty, and its Bonds must be a safe and profitable investment. It makes the shortest and best connections going West, both at Toledo and Detroit, and is the only Seven per Cent. Gold Bond on any through Trunk line now offered.

$2,000.—FIRST MORTGAGE—Wanted on property in Westchester, thirty minutes from Harlem. Address W. A. J., No. 4 Irving-place, New-York.

FINANCIAL.

INVESTMENT.

It is universally conceded that carefully-selected FIRST MORTGAGE RAILROAD BONDS are not only SAFE, but are the MOST DESIRABLE SECURITIES for investment purposes. It is also an established fact that there are fewer instances of default in the Railroad loan in any other or the great interests of the country.

These facts have been accepted as applying to the securities of Railroads generally, but they apply with greatly increased force in cases where the Roads have superior advantages in location, management and connections.

The Indianapolis, Bloomington, and Western Railway possesses all the advantages here named, and has, in addition, a very large business already created and assured to it. The BONDS of this road, now offered are GOLD, SEVEN PER CENT., CONVERTIBLE, are FULLY SECURED by a FIRST MORTGAGE on an extension of 217 miles, and are a liability of the entire line of 420 miles, of which four-fifths are completed.

The geographical position of the road is remarkably favorable. Commencing at Indianapolis its direction is west, and diverging at Champaign it has terminal points at Peoria on the Illinois River and on the Mississippi opposite Keokuk.

Net earnings of the division from Indianapolis to Pekin and Peoria are large, and have been for a considerable period greater than the amount required for interest on all bonds issued by the company. Regular trains are running on more than 160 miles of the extension, and total receipts of the road for this year must be very satisfactory to all holders of its securities.

The Earnings in 1872 were $1,359,-690 55, an increase of $395,000 over 1871. It is expected they will reach $2,000,000 during the present year.

These Bonds have an INTRINSIC VALUE exceeding the present low price of 90 and INTEREST, and holders will find a POSITIVE ADVANTAGE in an early increase in the value of their investment. Coupons January and July 1.

All NEGOTIABLE securities RECEIVED in exchange at best MARKET RATES.

Pamphlets, maps, and circulars furnished on application.

CRIME AND CRIMINALS.

A NOTORIOUS BURGLAR.

Trial of "Mart" Allen in the Court of General Sessions.

The Court of General Sessions yesterday, Recorder Hackett presiding, was crowded with Eighth Ward roughs, who had assembled to hear the trial of the notorious Wesley and Martin Allen, alias John B. Coles, and Henry Wiley, alias "Shorts," indicted for an attempted burglary on the premises of J. C. Kohlsaat & Sons, Nos. 9, 11 and 13 Mercer-street, on the night of the 29th of March. The premises in question contained a valuable stock of rich laces, velvets, and silks. "Mart" Allen, who demanded a separate trial, was placed at the bar, and after the examination and rejection of several jurors, a jury was at length obtained. The prisoner was defended by Mr. Beach, associated with Mr. Mitchell. It will be remembered that on the night in question, Officer Richard Jackson, of the Eighth Precinct, was at his post in Mercer-street, when he saw three suspicious-looking characters in the neighborhood of Kohlsaat's store. He tried the doors along his route, and on coming to Messrs. Kohlsaats' door discovered that the lock which he had been in the habit of handling had been removed and another substituted. The screws on the inner lock had been loosened so that the slightest force would open the door. Officer Wilson came along, and was stationed in charge of the store. While the officers were standing there, two men passed along toward Canal-street, and one followed afterward. Leaving Wilson at the store, Officer Jackson continued trying the doors toward Canal-street, and at the corner of Canal, saw a suspicious character, whom he arrested. The officer recognized his prisoner as Wesley Allen, the third man who had been seen to pass Kohlsaats' store. On being searched at the station-house, a padlock, two skeleton keys, a knife, and a quantity of red pepper were found on the person of "Wes." Meanwhile, Officer Molony, of the Eighth Precinct, who was on duty in Canal-street, saw a man, whom he subsequently recognized as "Mart" Allen, standing in a doorway, and acting in a suspicious manner. The officer questioned him, and finding his answers unsatisfactory, arrested him. A minute afterward, Allen threw a quantity of red pepper in the officer's eyes, swore he would cut his heart out, and ran, at the same time dropping three large canvas bags, which were concealed on his person. The officer immediately recovered himself, and pursued Allen, who ran through Canal-street. At the corner of Elm and Canal-streets, Allen was stopped by an officer of the Fourteenth Precinct, and held until Moloney came up. Only a few pieces of paper and some watches were found on his person when searched. A third man was noticed running along Wooster-street and entering No. 164. He was arrested, and turned out to be Henry Wiley, alias "Shorts," and on his person a pair of gas-fitter's tongs and a quantity of red pepper were found.

Officers Jackson, Moloney, Maher, and Wilson testified substantially to the facts as stated above. Officers Henderson and Mullin testified to seeing the Allen brothers and Wiley enter an oyster-saloon on Canal-street and handle the caster containing red pepper.

Assistant District-Attorney Russell offered in evidence the record of a former conviction in Connecticut.

Mr. Beach objected; objection overruled.

The record showed that the prisoner had been jointly indicted with John Grady, Ned McGuire, and Gilly McGloine for robbing the Adams Express car on the New-York and New-Haven Railroad, and had been sentenced at the August Term of the Superior Court, in Danbury, Conn., in 1866, to five years in State Prison.

Henry A. Hurlburt, a conductor on the Flushing and North-side Railroad, identified the prisoner as the man who was convicted of the Adams Express robbery.

The Court then adjourned until this morning.

Martin Allen, the prisoner, who is one of the notorious Allen family of the Ninth Ward, and a brother of Wesley and Jesse Allen, is a well-known burglar and thief. He was supposed to have been connected with the robbery of the Ocean Bank, and subsequently was suspected of robbing a bank in New-Hampshire. He was arrested in company with "Bobbie" Welsh, charged with robbing a large silk warehouse on Broadway, but managed to get off. Welsh was convicted and sent to State Prison. He then, in company with a woman named Emma Reed, kept a panel-house at No. 16 Howard-street, where numerous robberies were committed. At last a Californian, who had been robbed of $3,000, gave information to the police, and on this charge "Mart" was tried and sentenced to five years in State Prison. He was brought down on a writ of error issued by Judge Barnard, and released on $5,000 bail, pending the decision of the General Term, which reversed the judgment of the court below. The case was then taken to the Court of Appeals, where the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. When "Mart" ascertained that the appellate court had decided against him, he "jumped" his bail and went to Canada, where he remained a considerable time. On the last charge he was "wanted" by the authorities in this City, who have been looking for him a long time.

The Bleakley Murder Trial—Four Jurors Obtained Yesterday.

The trial of Robert P. Bleakley for the murder of his niece, Maud Merrill, alias Mary Ann Foley, was continued yesterday morning in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, before Judge Brady. The prosecution was conducted by District-Attorney Phelps, and the prisoner was defended by A. Oakey Hall and Wm. F. Howe. From the conduct of Bleakley for some time past, it was expected that during the trial he would interrupt the proceedings by undue and improper demonstrations, tending to produce an impression of insanity, and to prevent any demonstration of this character, he was not permitted to occupy the usual seat assigned to criminals, beside their counsel, but was compelled to remain in a corner, at the further end of the court-room, closely guarded by a number of deputy sheriffs and court officers. In appearance he seemed to be suffering from ill health, consequent on his confinement. He watched the proceedings with the closest interest, and frequently attracted attention by the excitability of his manner. One witness stated that he considered Bleakley of weak mind, whereupon the latter started up, and with much emphasis declared that the whole investigation was a farce, and though he might be physically weak, mentally he was perfectly healthy and sane. His friends in vain endeavored to repress these ebullitions of feeling, and the whole day, at certain intervals, they were repeated. The day was spent in an effort to impanel a jury, but without success. Out of a panel of 100 only four jurors were accepted, the remainder being challenged peremptorily, excused by the trier's court or counsel, or rejected for having formed and entertained opinions on the case. A few gentlemen who did not respond to their names were ordered to be fined. The jurors obtained are Wm. J. Cochrane, (foreman,) David Ackerman, Adolph Luhrs, and Adolph Schroeder. The court adjourned to this morning.

Preparations for the Execution of Lusignani.

Sheriff Van Deveer, of Morris County, has completed the preparations for the execution of Lusignani, the wife-murderer, who is to be hanged at Morristown, on Thursday. The drop will be made to fall by means of a spring which holds the rope, to which a weight of 280 pounds is attached, and the rope will not be cut with an ax, as has been done heretofore in using the same gallows. Under the orders of the Court, a strong attempt will be made to have the execution as nearly private as possible. Few or no outsiders will be admitted, and stringent rules have been made concerning reporters. No representative of any newspaper will be admitted unless his name has been forwarded from the office of his paper and registered at least a day previous to the execution. Company A of the Fifth Regiment will guard the square surrounding the Court-house, and admit no one unless provided with a ticket. The strict rules regarding newspaper men have been adopted, because letters have been received from numerous parties fraudulently representing themselves as authorized reporters. The condemned is visited almost daily by priests from Orange, and permission has been granted for the burial of the body in the Roman Catholic cemetery. Five executions have already taken place on the gallows to be used. Lusignani is very weak, and it is feared may attempt suicide, or may not be able to go to the scaffold when the time for the execution arrives.

Escape of Prisoners from a Detective.

On Sunday morning, while Detective Farley, of the Central Office, was passing St. Patrick's Cathedral, in Mott-street, he noticed two men, known to him to be pick-pockets, lounging about the entrance, evidently awaiting for the conclusion of the services, to ply their nefarious business among the persons leaving the church. Farley arrested them and took them to the Police Central Office, where they gave their names as John Wilson and Thomas Murphy, and were locked up. Yesterday morning Detective Farley started with his two prisoners from the Central Office, for the purpose of arraigning them before Justice Dowling, at the Tombs Police Court. The detective and his prisoners got on the front platform of a Fourth-avenue car, going down-town. All three were smoking, and Farley placed himself in the centre of the platform, having one of the thieves on each side of him. When the car reached Hester-street the prisoner on the left hand jumped off the car and ran through Hester-street toward the Bowery. Farley called to several of the passengers on the platform to look out for the other prisoner while he followed in pursuit of the one who was running toward the Bowery. The passengers, however, made no effort to restrain the second prisoner, who sprang from the car and ran up Howard-street toward Broadway. When Farley returned breathless from his unsuccessful chase after the first prisoner, he was astonished to find that the other one had also disappeared. Both the prisoners are still at large.

A Baffled Burglar.

A most singular case of burglary, involving the capture of a desperate thief, occurred in the Twenty-seventh Precinct yesterday morning. The large five-story building, No. 53 Cortlandt-street, is occupied by Judwin Brothers, wholesale dealers in drugs. The unfinished house, No. 160 Greenwich-street, abuts on the corner of Cortlandt-street. No. 158 Greenwich-street, the house nearer Cortlandt-street, has a slanting roof, while the roof of No. 160 is flat. Officer Hickey while on post tried Judwin's store door, at No. 53 Cortlandt-street, and found it insecurely fastened. He pushed it in, and as there were no traces of burglars in the store, secured it again, and reported at the station that he found store door of No. 53 Cortlandt-street insecure and fastened it. Two minutes after, a citizen reported that a man had fallen from the roof of No. 158 Greenwich-street into the yard, and was badly injured. Officers Byrnes and Thompson were sent out to bring the man in. They found him supported by two other men, and he stated he had fallen from the roof, but failed to say how he got there. The men who were with him said there was not any necessity of bringing him to the station, as he was not injured. The officers did so, and though the man gave his name to Sergeant Maloney as Cornelius Mahoney, and said he resided at No. 96 Tenth-avenue, he was recognized by acting-Capt. Ferris, as Cornelius Roach, a well-known thief. Police Surgeon Hutchinson on examining him, found he was not injured, and Capt. Ferris finding that he was "playing" drunk, locked him up. Suspicions of a burglary having been committed were excited by the prisoner's behavior, and Capt. Ferris, with several officers, proceeded to thoroughly search Messrs. Judwin's establishment. They found the scuttle on the roof forced open, and $5,000 worth of the best goods in the house packed up on the fifth floor, ready for removal. Continuing their search they found on the roof of a two-story extension, in the rear of No. 158 Greenwich-street, about $20 worth of briar pipes. This explained the whole affair. Cornelius Roach, with other thieves, gained the roof of No. 160 Greenwich-street, forced the scuttle of No. 53 Cortlandt after crossing the intervening houses, and were about removing the goods which they had packed up, when they were alarmed by Officer Hickey forcing in the street door. They fled, Roach having with him the stolen pipes. He slipped on the sloping roof of No. 158 Greenwich-street, fell to the extension, where he dropped the pipes, and from there rolled off into the yard. In view of the above facts, Justice Dowling yesterday afternoon held Roach for trial, in default of $5,000 bail.

Daring Attempt at Highway Robbery.

A very daring attempt to rob Mr. John McDonnell, the paymaster of the Second-avenue Railroad Company, was made yesterday morning by three unknown men. At 11 o'clock Mr. McDonnell was standing at the corner of Thirty-eighth-street and Second-avenue, waiting for an up-car, having in his possession $2,800, with which he was going to the depot, when he was suddenly assaulted by three men, who seized him by the throat and endeavored to force him to the pavement. Feeling convinced that the object of his assailants was to obtain possession of the money, Mr. McDonnell attempted to draw his revolver. Observing this movement, one of the ruffians threw a handful of cayenne pepper into Mr. McDonnell's eyes, completely blinding him for the moment. The ruffians were proceeding to "go through" their victim in search of the money, when James Mee, an ex-policeman, arrived on the scene. Taking in the situation in a glance, Mee hastened to the assistance of Mr. McDonnell, whereupon his assailants escaped without having achieved their object. Mee, it will be remembered, was the officer who, at the risk of his life, arrested John Real, just after he had shot Patrolman Smedick, of the Twenty-first Precinct, some years ago.

Strange Conduct of a Policeman—He Goes Unpunished.

Officer Charles McEvoy, of the Sixth Precinct, who was appointed a policeman on the 24th of January last, and who wears shield No. 1,284, yesterday morning entered an infamous house in Water-street with a disreputable woman. In a short time Officers Musgrave and Harty, of the Fourth Precinct, were startled by screams coming from the house, and entered it in time to see a man jump out of a rear window and escape. The proprietress of the place said the man had drawn a pistol on her and threatened to shoot her. The officers, on proceeding to Oliver-street, arrested McEvoy, who was in citizens' clothes, and who was identified by the woman. In his possession they found a loaded revolver. He showed his shield and begged to be released. He was, however, taken to the Oak-street Station, and from there before Inspector Walling, at the Central Office, who directed that he be arraigned before Justice Dowling at the Tombs. The Justice, owing to the bad character of the complainant, took the pistol away from McEvoy and discharged him.

The McDermott Wife Murder.

Coroner Sherman held an inquest yesterday at the Twenty-second Precinct Station-house in the case of Maria McDermott, the woman murdered by her husband, John McDermott, at their residence, No. 426 West Fifty-second-street, on the 13th of April. The facts in the case already published were sustained by the evidence. McDermott, a hot-headed man, grew jealous of Patrick Ryan, a cousin who had been boarding in the family, and ordered him out of the house a week prior to the murder. On the evening before the murder Ryan called on Mrs. McDermott and paid her $6 which he owed for board. McDermott learned this, and came in drunk the evening after, and while his wife was stooping over the stove, preparing supper, battered in her skull with a sledge-hammer. After being arrested, and while confined in the Twenty-second Precinct Station-house, he attempted suicide by butting his head against the iron fixtures of his cell. This necessitated his removal to the Ninety-ninth-street Reception Hospital, where he now lies under medical treatment. The jury rendered a verdict against McDermott, and an officer was detailed to guard him at the hospital. He will be taken to the Tombs as soon as his condition is such as to warrant removal.

"Dr." Browne's Victim Likely to Die.

Mr. Sanford M. Murray, the collector of the New-York Gas Company who was attacked by Dr. Edward M. Browne, the "specialist," in the latter's office in William-street, a few weeks ago, and almost killed with an ax, will probably die from the injuries he received. Mr. Murray's cousin, in whose Brooklyn residence Mr. Murray is, sent word to Capt. Ulman, of the Fourth Precinct, yesterday, that Murray's condition had altered greatly for the worse, and his death was not unlikely to occur at any moment. Capt. Ulman informed the authorities, so as to guard against Dr. Browne, by any possibility, securing his release on bail. Browne, who has been suffering from erysipelas of the head, is confined in the Tombs. It will be remembered that Mr. Murray, on exhibiting $500 which he had collected during the day, was attacked with an ax by Browne, in the office of the latter, and received two fractures of the skull.

A Youthful Forger.

On Saturday a young lad entered the North River Bank, corner of Greenwich-street, and presented a check for $250, purporting to have been drawn by a merchant named James Classen. The check was paid, but was subsequently found to be a forgery. Yesterday morning the same boy came again, and presented another forged check for $360. He was at once arrested by Officer Finnerty, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct. He gave his name as James Hughes, thirteen years old, of No. 442 West Twenty-sixth-street, and said he had been given both checks by a man named Robert Carman, whom he did not know, but who met him at the corner of Barclay and Greenwich streets. The story is without foundation, as papers found with the youngster showed that he passed under the alias of James Brown, and no such man as Robert Carman could be found in the liquor-store where he said Carman did business. Hughes will be arraigned at the Tombs Court to-day.

Highway Robbery in Brooklyn.

On Sunday night Henry Hudson, of No. 162 Wyckoff-street, was taken to his home by two young men, who left the house before any questions could be asked. Mr. Hudson was wounded in the head with a heavy instrument, an indentation having been made in his skull. On recovering consciousness, he stated that he visited two saloons on Smith-street on Sunday night, and left the last one, which was near Degraw-street, about 9 o'clock. Immediately after stepping from the door he was knocked senseless, and recovered consciousness in his own home, when he found that he had been robbed of $800. Mr. Hudson's wound is serious, but is not likely to prove fatal.

Arrest of an Alleged Forger.

Another case of attempted forgery on the Adams Express Company came up at the Tombs yesterday. From the complaint made by Mr. Hoey, Superintendent of the company, it would appear that a gold check for $108, drawn by Leroy R. Tuttle, Assistant United States Treasurer, in favor of F. M. Woodward, of Marlton, Camden County, N. J., by a mistake in the address fell into the possession of George Woodward, at Marlborough, N. J., who indorsed it and deposited it at the company's office in this City for collection. The forgery was discovered, and on Woodward calling for the money yesterday he was arrested by Officer Finnerty, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct. Justice Dowling held him for trial.

Discharge and Rearrest of an Alleged Thief.

Charles J. Hampton, who was recently arrested on a charge of stealing a number of bonds of the Pittsburg and Allegheny Railroad Company from the Safe Deposit Company of Pittsburg, and attempting to dispose of one of them for $1,000, was brought up in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, before Judge Brady, on a writ of habeas corpus. On the motion of District-Attorney Phelps he was discharged, but he was immediately rearrested on an order of requisition signed by Gov. Dix, and was taken in charge of a detective officer and conveyed to Pittsburg, where he will stand his trial.

Minor Crimes and Casualties.

An unknown man was struck by the locomotive attached to the New-Haven milk-train, near Fordham, yesterday morning, and seriously injured. He was brought to this City and cared for at Bellevue Hospital.

Henry Badstein, aged forty-four years, of No. 301 First-avenue, had his hip dislocated by falling from the front platform of car No. 31, of the Avenue A line, at Fourteenth-street, yesterday.

Yesterday Dennis Mulhair, aged twenty years, of No. 430 East Thirteenth-street, fell from his cart, in the Bowery, and the wheels passing over his body, inflicted serious injuries.

An unknown man, subsequently identified as John Henry Dolan, of No. 451 West-thirty-first-street, a plumber, was run over and instantly killed, yesterday morning, by a train of freight-cars of the Hudson River Railroad, at the corner of West and Charlton streets. Coroner Young will hold an inquest.

In the case of Capt. John Marshal, of the sloop President, of Greenwich, Conn., who died in the Park Hospital on Sunday, from fracture of the skull, resulting from the falling of the top-mast of his vessel in a collision with the schooner St. Elmo, off College Point, the jury, in an inquest held by Coroner Young, yesterday, rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

George McKnight, residing in Tenth-avenue, near Twenty-eighth-street, committed a robbery two years ago, to answer which he was bailed at the time. The case was not brought before the Grand Jury by the former administration of justice, but District-Attorney Phelps had McKnight indicted and arrested on Thursday last. He was seized with delirium tremens in the Tombs on Friday last, and died at 9½ o'clock yesterday morning. Coroner Keenan will hold an inquest.

At the Yorkville Police Court yesterday, Judge Bixby committed for trial James Grant for attempting to ply his vocation, that of a pickpocket, in Central Park on Sunday. John Flood was fined $10 for fast driving in the Park, and held in $1,000 bail to answer for assaulting the two officers who arrested him.

Charles Dunn and Charles Gibbons, printers, both of No. 12½ Vendewater-street, were brought before Justice Dowling, at the Tombs, yesterday, charged with having stolen a horse, wagon, and harness, valued at $500, the property of Alfred Haydon, No. 124 White-street. They were held for trial.

THE TRAIN LUNACY CASE.

The Defense—What Dr. Nealis and Judge Dowling Say.

The investigation to determine the soundness or unsoundness of mind of George Francis Train was continued, yesterday afternoon, before Chief-Justice Daly and a jury. As a preliminary episode to the regular proceedings, Mr. Train, addressing Chief-Justice Daly, inquired if they were in a court of justice. He had noticed that throughout this proceeding some of the papers had characterized it as a huge joke, another as a stupendous hoax, and a third said he wrote epigrams. He did not write epigrams, and regarded such criticisms as an insult to the Court, the jurors, the counsel, and the large audience attending from day to day. He called the attention of the Court to this matter so that it might be rectified, and the reporters might be instructed to report what takes place, and leave all expressions of opinion for editorial comment.

Chief-Justice Daly evincing no disposition to give instructions to the reporters, Mr. John O. Mott, on behalf of Mr. Train, proceeded to open the case for the defense in a very brief address, in which he stated that the medical experts for the prosecution had not only failed to show in Mr. Train one of the leading symptoms of insanity—a failure of memory—but they had shown him to possess a memory superior to any of them; that it would be shown that Mr. Train evinced none of the recognized symptoms of insanity, and that whatever be his present mental structure or condition, it is the same as it has been from youth up.

Judge Dowling was then called to the stand as a witness, and related substantially the same facts detailed by the medical experts as having taken place at the interview in the Tombs. Some of the statements, however, made by the physicians he did not recollect, as he did not expect to be called as a witness, and did not charge his mind with them. The witness was present at an interview in the prison between Mr. Edmund Yates, Mr. Bellew, and Mr. Train, but nothing remarkable occurred, the conversation being chiefly in relation to the former acquaintance of the parties in London. From these interviews the witnesses formed the opinion that Mr. Train was not in a condition to do himself or any one else any harm.

Doctor Nealis, of the City Prison, testified that during Mr. Train's imprisonment, he had carefully observed his conduct. Had observed it with a view to determine the question of his sanity, and concluded that he was sane. That he was never present at any examination by other physicians, as had been testified by some of them. He believes Mr. Train to be a man of strong powers of mind and highly cultivated, but a strong inclination to get up sensations, and would do almost anything to create them; he believed Mr. Train made many speeches which he did not believe himself; indeed, he had made speeches in which he expressed certain views, and subsequently told the witness he was only humbugging. After the interview with Dr. Clymer, the witness entered Mr. Train's cell, and the latter said: "Well, I suppose old Clymer will think I'm insane; I have been fooling him." He (witness) then told Train that he must stop such fooling; that if he did not stop he would get into the asylum; that Dr. Clymer and Dr. Hammond were both very eminent men in their profession, and if he did not stop his fooling, they would swear him insane, and be justified in doing so.

Warden Johnston, of the Tombs, testified he had known Mr. Train for about ten years, and considered him a great American humbug. His conduct during those ten years had not changed. Train had never impressed him as one insane, but rather as one who desired to advertise himself at the expense of the public, or more particularly the Press, without paying anything for it.

Rev. John B. Heath had seen Mr. Train very frequently during his imprisonment, and had long conversations with him, but had seen nothing to convey an impression that he was insane.

The further hearing was adjourned to this afternoon.

The Kolah Lunacy Proceedings.

The readers of THE TIMES are already familiar with the proceedings had about a year since, in the case of a rich person named Kolah, who was at the time a guest at the Hoffman House, in this City, and who, during a performance at one of the theatres, exhibited violent symptoms of insanity. A commission was appointed by the Court of Common Pleas, who declared Mr. Kolah to be of unsound mind, and Nathaniel Jarvis, Jr., was appointed by the Court a committee of his estate, amounting to some $60,000 in gold. Subsequently the father-in-law of Mr. Kolah arrived here from India, and Chief-Justice Daly appointed Major Constable a special commissioner to accompany Mr. Kolah to Bombay, and deliver him into the custody of a committee there, as soon as such committee should be appointed by the proper tribunal. Such committee was appointed, the patient's wife being one, and he was delivered over to their custody. On the return of Major Constable a reference was ordered to audit his account of the expenditures during the voyage, pending an application to transfer the residue of the lunatic's property to Mr. Gamble, who, by the Bombay Court, had been appointed a committee of his estate. The case came up yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas, Chambers, on a motion to confirm the referee's report.

The report shows that Major Constable got $5,000 for his personal services, and expended $10,856 in disbursements. Of this latter sum the referee disallows $250 for wines and liquors for the Major's personal use; $500 for expenses of a trip to Nagasaki while the lunatic was at Hong Kong. His entire disbursements, $2,074, are disallowed, and $7,500 additional for services, and the referee finds Major Constable indebted to the estate in $2,074.

Judge Robinson reserved his decision on the confirmation of the report.

The Young Investigation.

The investigation into the official conduct of Joseph B. Young, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, did not proceed yesterday, in consequence of the sickness of his counsel, Mr. Rufus Andrews.

A subpœna was served last night on Controller Green, at the request of Mr. Young. Mr. Green has written a letter to the committee, asking to be excused from answering to the subpœna until after the 1st of May next, but no decision on this point has been as yet rendered by the committee.

NEW-YORK AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

NEW-YORK.

The 105th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday, at 2½ P. M.

It is rumored that Mr. Daly will build his new Fifth-avenue Theatre on the corner of Fifth-avenue, Twenty-sixth-street, and Broadway.

An unknown man, about twenty-five years old, was found drowned at the foot of Broome-street, East River, yesterday afternoon, and was taken to the Morgue.

The weekly meeting of the Methodist preachers was held yesterday. The question under discussion was, "How can the legislation necessary for the promotion of temperance be obtained?" After a lively debate the meeting adjourned without arriving at any conclusion.

The Board of School Trustees of the Nineteenth Ward organized, yesterday, by the election of Richard Kelly as chairman. They afterward visited the schools of the ward. The Fifty-first and Seventy-ninth street schools were thoroughly inspected, and found in perfect order.

BROOKLYN.

Rev. Justin D. Fulton, of Boston, has accepted the call of the Hanson-place Baptist Church.

Mr. Thos. J. Hennessy committed suicide yesterday by jumping from a three-story window at his residence, No. 383 Putnam-avenue, while suffering from an attack of temporary insanity.

Yesterday afternoon an unknown woman applied at the drug-store of Dr. Irish, on Fulton-street, near the ferry, for medicine, saying that she felt sick and dizzy. She fainted before assistance could be rendered, and died on her way to the City Hospital.

Yesterday morning the frame building No. 476 Broadway was destroyed by fire; damage to building, owned by Catharine Patterson, $500; McCaffery, first floor, $150; Flynn, second floor, $250. The adjoining building, Schedle's saloon, was damaged $500; insured.

Yesterday, Special Officer John Keeny, acting under instructions from Mr. Bergh, obtained an order of arrest for one Thos. Farrell, who, it is alleged, recently shut up sixteen horses in a stable on Throop-avenue, Brooklyn, and allowed them to starve to death. Farrell denies the accusation. The matter is to be investigated.

STATEN ISLAND.

The Staten Island fishermen yesterday had the heaviest run of shad of the season, the catch having been near 8,000. The tendency of prices is consequently downward, sales having been made at from $15 to $25 per hundred.

Rev. Thomas H. Smith, formerly pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, has been assigned to the Somerville Methodist Church at Mariner's Harbor. This church is the oldest Methodist church on the island, having been organized in 1787.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

John H. Williams, of Furnace Woods, near Peekskill, has been arrested, and held to bail in the sum of $1,000, on a charge of bigamy.

Mr. Benj. Hegeman, of City Island, a member of the Board of Supervisors of the county for the last eleven years, was buried at Oyster Bay, Long Island, on Sunday.

The call tendered by the Baptist congregation of Tarrytown to Rev. Mr. Johnson, now traveling abroad for the benefit of his health, has been declined by him, on the ground that his health is still too much impaired to undertake the arduous duties of pastor.

LONG ISLAND.

On Saturday the dead body of a colored infant, aged about three months, was found in the woods near Hempstead. Jane Corse, wife of a colored Methodist preacher, has been arrested on suspicion of being the mother of the child.

NEW-JERSEY.

The Jersey City tax receipts last week were $14,145 48.

An unsuccessful attempt was made Sunday night to burn the house of the late Daniel Edsall, on Lower Main-street, Passaic. But little damage was done.

A barn belonging to S. W. Torrey, at the foot of Jefferson-street, Passaic, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. It was probably the work of an incendiary. The loss is about $1,000.

James S. Yard, the newly-appointed Commissioner of Railroads, has instructed the assessors in the various sections of the State to forward to him the extent and valuation of all taxable railroad property.

The refuse discharged into the Hudson from the kerosene, chemical, and tar works at Bull's Ferry has destroyed the shad fisheries at that place, and no fish of any consequence have been taken there this season.

A convention of the colored men of New-Jersey has been called, to be held at New-Brunswick on June 3. The object of the gathering is to promote the interests, political and social, of the colored people throughout the State.

Revs. J. D. Blain, S. W. Hilliard, and J. B. Faulks, and Messrs. S. B. Ransom and C. L. Gardiner have been appointed delegates from the Newark M. E. Conference to the Temperance Convention to be held at Saratoga Springs in August next.

An unknown man, while intoxicated, on Sunday, undertook to walk across the meadows on the pipe supplying Jersey City with water. When about half way across, he fell into a ditch and was drowned. There was nothing upon his person by which he could be identified.

The body of the man who died at the Jersey City Hospital on Sunday, from injuries received in falling from a Pennsylvania train on Friday night, was yesterday identified as that of James Brannigan, of Newark. Deceased had been to Brooklyn, and was on his way home when the accident occurred. The body was delivered to his friends.

An Elizabeth dry-goods dealer named A. Hirsch had a narrow escape from death a day or two since. He was crossing one of the iron bridges near the city, when he saw an approaching train which he had not time to avoid. There being no alternative, he lowered himself between two beams, and remained suspended by the hands until the train passed over him.

THE ASSISTANT ALDERMEN.

The City Chamberlain's Fees—The Night-Soil Contract.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr. Wade in the chair.

A resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Ordinances to draft an ordinance providing for the erection of raised gates on all the ferry-bridges.

A resolution to regulate and pave Broadway, as straightened and widened, between Thirty-second and Fifty-ninth-streets, was laid over.

The report in favor of authorizing the Board of Health to enter into a contract with some responsible person for the removal of night-soil from the City, at an annual cost not exceeding $33,000 per annum, was called up.

Mr. Murphy said the City had hitherto been paying $60,000 per annum for this work.

The report was concurred in by a vote of 15 to 4.

The Special Committee of the Board to whom was referred a communication from the Mayor, inclosing a letter from the Controller relating to the alleged abuses connected with the City Chamberlain's office, presented a long report, together with resolutions: First, that the fees, salaries, and emoluments of the City Chamberlain and County Treasurer, as claimed by him, and especially those claimed prior to the passage of the act of May 15, 1872, are enormously in excess of any service rendered or responsibility incurred by the official, and are an outrage upon the tax-payers of this City and State. Second, that the City Chamberlain and the depositary banks should be held to account to the City for interest on all deposits in those banks, and that the Counsel to the Corporation be instructed to take such measures as may be necessary to recover and secure the same, and to compel the addition of such interest in future to the principal fund. Third, that the depositary banks be prohibited from paying over to any person any portion of the City funds, whether principal or interest, except upon the warrants of the Controller, countersigned by the Mayor, and that the Counsel to the Corporation be directed to take the necessary steps to prevent the Chamberlain, under any pretense, from drawing moneys from the Treasury without such warrants. Fourth—That a copy of the communications of the Mayor and Controller, and of the foregoing report, be transmitted to the New-York legislative delegation, with the request that a bill be introduced which shall definitely fix the compensation of the City Chamberlain and County Treasurer, so that the same shall be no longer a subject of dispute.

The report was laid over and ordered to be printed, and the board then adjourned.

Tax Assessments—The Charges Against Messrs. Johnson & Ward.

With regard to the charges lately made against a firm of lawyers named Johnson & Ward, of Nos. 4 and 6 Warren-street, of an attempt to "strike" certain persons on account of their alleged ability to procure the reduction of assessments on personal property, a TIMES reporter yesterday called upon Tax Commissioner George H. Andrews, and held a conversation with that gentleman upon the subject. Mr. Andrews stated that he was perfectly satisfied from a further investigation of the matter, as well as with the testimonials and references furnished by Messrs. Johnson & Ward, that those gentlemen were men of honor and integrity, and that from the representations made to him by them, they had evidently entered upon the business under a wrong impression with regard to the manner in which assessments on personal property were made, and that they had determined to discontinue all business of the kind.

Investigations were further pursued by the reporter, and it would seem that the firm in question are considered to be of good reputation and probity. The general impression was, however, that they had been injudicious in sending out such a circular as the one published in THE TIMES, and that such a course was not in accordance with the usual method of seeking business pursued by the profession, but beyond this it is not thought that there is any foundation for the charges made.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court of the United States the Chief-Justice announced the allotment of Justices, which remains unchanged, Mr. Justice Hunt being assigned to the circuit of Judge Nelson. The following decisions were rendered:

No. 158.—Ripley, Administrator, vs. The Railway Passengers' Insurance Company of Hartford.—Error to the Circuit of Michigan.—This was an action on a policy of insurance issued to Ripley, intestate, against the perils of travel by public or private conveyance. The deceased traveled from Grand Haven, Mich., to Dalton, in the same State, which was within a few miles of his home. At that time he set out on foot at midnight, but before he reached home he was waylaid and beaten for the purposes of robbery, so that he died a few hours after. The company declined to pay the insurance, objecting that he was not traveling by public or private conveyance as required by the policy. The Court below sustained this defense, and that decision is affirmed here, the court holding that walking is not traveling by public or private conveyance. Public conveyance, it is said, naturally suggests a vessel or vehicle belonging to a private individual. If this was the sense in which the language was understood by the parties, the decedent was not, when injured, traveling within the terms of the policy, and there can be no recovery. Mr. Chief-Justice Chase delivered the opinion.

No. 166.—Mutual Life Insurance Company of New-York vs. Terry.—Error to the Circuit Court for the District of Kansas.—In this case the company resisted the payment of the insurance on the life of the husband of defendant in error, on the ground that he committed suicide, such an act invalidating the policy. The verdict below was for the administratrix under the charge of the Court, it appearing to the satisfaction of the jury that Terry was insane when he committed the act, swallowing poison, which caused his death, and had been prior thereto subject to aberration of the mind. The company appealed from the judgment entered on that verdict, and it is here held, in substance, that the act was not the voluntary, intelligent act of the deceased; that his mental and moral powers were so far gone that he had no longer control of his acts, and committed suicide when in that condition. It was, in effect, as if his intellect were blotted out, or had never existed, or, if he understood and appreciated the effects of the act causing his death, it was an uncontrollable impulse caused by insanity which led to its commission. He had not the power to refrain from the commission of the act, or to resist the impulse, and such circumstances do not avoid the policy; judgment affirmed. Mr. Justice Hunt delivered the opinion. Mr. Justice Strong dissented.

The court adjourned to Thursday, when it is expected it will adjourn for the term. Mr. Justice Miller proposes to sail for Europe on Saturday.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Before Justice Smalley.

HEAVY VERDICT AGAINST CONSIGNEES.

The Milwaukee National Bank of Wisconsin vs. Arthur Hughes, et al.—Action to recover the sum of $24,685 19, paid by the bank in discounting some sight and time drafts, used in purchasing a cargo of wheat shipped to Oswego. The bank, having discounted the drafts, claimed, therefore, a lien on the cargo of wheat, which the consignees at Oswego had sold. Verdict for plaintiff for full amount.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

NEW-YORK, Monday, April 28, 1873.

There was no trade in horned Cattle on yesterday forenoon at Weehawken Yards. On yesterday and to-day, at One Hundredth-street Yards, trade in horned Cattle was fair, although the quality of the Steers on hand was not in the aggregate as good as buyers were in need of. Prices ranged from 11c.@14c. ℘ lb., with a few choice Steers sold at 14¼c. ℘ lb.; weights from 5½ to 9 cwt., on 55 to 62 lbs. to the cwt. net. Milch Cows still come to hand of poor quality; trade opened slow; sales few; prices from $30@$77 ℘ head. Veals now arrive in large lots, but, as the quality has declined, sales were slow at 6¼c. ℘ lb. Sheep were slow of sale on this forenoon, and the market closed weak, although the lots disposed of were generally 2 and 3 car-loads in one. HONEST TESTIMONY.
WHAT HON. GEO. STARR HAS TO SAY OF RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.
A LETTER WORTH READING.
NO. 3 VAN NESS-PLACE,
NEW-YORK, JAN. 1, 1873.

Dr. Radway:

DEAR SIR: Impelled by a sense of gratitude on my own part, as well as kindly feeling toward others, who may be so unfortunate to suffer as I have, I take this mode of acknowledging to you the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Ready Relief.

With me it has worked wonders. For the last three years I have had frequent and severe attacks of sciatica, sometimes extending from the lumbar regions to my ankles, and, at times, in both lower limbs.

During the time I have been afflicted I have tried almost all the remedies recommended by wise men and fools, hoping to find relief, but all proved to be failures.

I have tried various kinds of baths, manipulations, outward applications of liniments too numerous to mention, and prescriptions of the most eminent physicians, all of which failed to give me relief.

Last September, at the urgent request of a friend, (who had been afflicted as myself,) I was induced to try your remedy. I was then suffering fearfully with one of my old turns. To my surprise and delight, the first application gave me ease, after bathing and rubbing the parts affected, leaving the limb in a warm glow, created by the Relief. In a short time the pain passed entirely away, although I have slight periodical attacks approaching a change of weather. I know now how to cure myself, and feel quite master of the situation. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is my friend. I never travel without a bottle in my valise.

If this testimonial can be of service in calling the attention of others to the virtues of your article, I hope you will give it the widest circulation.

Yours, truly, GEORGE STARR.
